

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Largest Circulation of Any Daily Newspaper, Morning or Evening, in Atlanta

ONLY MORNING NEWSPAPER
PUBLISHED IN ATLANTA.

ATLANTA, GA., MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 9, 1931.

Entered at Atlanta Post Office as Second-Class Mail Matter.

Daily and Sunday: Weekly 20c; Monthly 100c.
Single Copies: Daily, 5c; Sunday, 10c.

AMERICAN TROOPS CALLED OUT IN TIENSIN AFTER CHINESE MOB ATTACKS NATIVE POLICE

CAPITAL AWAITS GARDNER'S MOVE IN HOOVER TILT

Navy League President
Gives No Definite Indication of Attitude Towards White House Demand for Apology.

RETRACTION SEEN AS IMPROBABLE

Report of President's Committee May Not Be Accepted as Final By "Big Navy" Man.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(UP)—The next move in the controversy over President Hoover's naval policy is up to the man who started it.

The capital today was digesting the unanimous and voluminous report of the Hoover five-man committee which held William Howard Gardner, president of the Navy League, had uttered "many inaccuracies, false assumptions and erroneous conclusions" in his blast against the administration.

Representative French, of Idaho, was the first to give his enthusiastic endorsement to the report.

The president in silence is waiting for Gardner to make a formal correction of his statements and an apology" for criticism of the president, including the now well-known "abysmal ignorance" phrase.

Gardner, in New York, has indicated he will study the report closely before saying anything. Friends of his here, unwilling to be quoted, doubted that an apology would be forthcoming. Their attitude did not indicate that the Hoover committee report would be accepted as the last word.

Politicians Silent.

The strictly political section of the capital kept silent, too. Many leaders in congress, regardless of party or naval policy, had shown a lack of interest in the entire controversy. It has been noted that the entire controversy has been an incident which should never have happened. Some of them may refer to it in the naval debates later on. But now they have more pressing issues to attend to.

Representative French, first exception in congressional ranks, denounced Gardner's attitude as irresponsible.

"Chairman for the past eight years of the naval appropriation subcommittee of the house, French spoke the day after his return from the disarmament discussions at Geneva.

"No one can read the statement of Mr. Gardner, for the Navy League and its members of the committees of which Mr. Hammond was chairman, without realizing that Mr. Gardner and his associates deserve the execration that they received," said French.

"Having in mind the sound policy of the president and the reasonable naval construction that is going forward, the issue right now becomes largely a question of the League and its solves itself into whether or not the country shall have regard for actual naval needs and for the burdens of taxation that rest upon the people, as the president insists, or, ignoring national welfare, turn the treasury over to the exploitation of those who have personal ties to serve navy yards and shipyards, aircraft and munitions manufacturers, and to some extent officers who are blinded by personal interest in seeking their own ends."

Existence Challenged.

The statement of Mr. Gardner rests upon distorted tables and unscientific premises, the truth of which is available to Mr. Gardner. When an organization that prates patriotism sticks to the level of issuing the type of propaganda that the Navy League has issued, faith in any legitimate reason for its existence is challenged."

Should Gardner refuse to apologize, he might well do so with the executive committee which gave him a 7-to-1 vote of confidence in the controversy. That vote came an hour before the Hoover committee, composed of John Hays Hammond, chairman; Admiral Hugh Rodman, retired; Eliot Widwaters, of Boston; Undersecretary Faxon; and Assistant Secretary Jahns, started work.

The league committee might reconsider its previous action, but it had one indirect reference to the Hoover investigation in its statement then. It volunteered its own records to any impartial group that would throw "much needed light" on the present naval policy. As it met it encouraged the already formed general opinion.

'Expert William Tell' Misses and Slays Man
LESTER, Iowa, Nov. 8.—(UP)—"All right, William Tell, let's see you shoot it off," said James Dickinson, placing a bottle on his head. "Okay, but it's a bottle and not an apple," replied George Marnett, who took another drink, raised his pistol and pulled the trigger. He missed the bottle. Dickinson, a 40-year-old garage worker, was killed. Marnett, 36, known as a crack pistol shot, was taken to Rock Rapids, and charged with murder. Witnesses said they were close friends, that both were intoxicated.

PARTIES' LEADERS MEET THIS WEEK TO SHAPE PLANS

Republicans To Fight for House Control Despite Democrats' Superior Strength.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Party leaders will gather here this week to lay plans for organizing the house.

Both Representatives John N. Garner, of Texas, the democratic speaker, and Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, republican floor leader, last session, are to be present.

Tilson will confer with President Hoover and other administration officials on the possibility of organizing the house despite the democratic plurality of three. However, he is unlikely to say anything about the Hoover legislative program until the republicans' caucus November 30 and determine upon a speakership candidate.

Shoved into a numerical control of the house through election deaths, the democrats are confronted by the problem of dividing the organization power between the north and south, and the selection of a floor leader. Garner has not indicated his choice for the leadership but is known to have a generous attitude toward the northern members on committee assignments.

Confident they can throw their full weight, Garner for speaker, the democrats plan to compose their differences on the power division at their caucus December 5.

In the meantime, they expect Governor Sterling, of Texas, to call an election, probably November 28, to fill the vacancy in the 14th Texas district, caused by the death Friday of the lone republican from that state. Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, William Wurzbach, of San Antonio, a democrat and judge of Bexar County, is being boomed as successor to his late brother.

With this district, the fifth New Jersey, where a special election will be held December 1, the democrats would have 219 seats against the republicans' 214, the farmer-laborites one, with a vacancy in the fifth New Hampshire to be filled January 5. On the basis of the recent gubernatorial elections, the democrats expect to take the vacant New Jersey seat.

Already the democrats are formulating a legislative program, although they realize that without a definite political majority it is difficult to pass party legislation when the house is so closely divided.

Representative Pou, of North Carolina, dean of the democratic membership, said that with a hostile administration, it probably would be impossible for his party to enact much needed legislation.

"Probably the only thing we can

Continued in Page 4, Column 7.

BUSINESS SWINGS UPWARD IN WEST ON WHEAT'S RISE

All Branches of Business and Industry Improve; Steel Mills Operations Show Increase.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Recent trends have been upward in practically all branches of business and industry in the west.

During the week the Pacific northwest has seen "dollar wheat" for the first time in months. In Seattle, Friday, Montana dark northern spring wheat touched $1.01 and slipped back $1, while other grades ranged proportionately from 74 cents up.

In California, the grape grower, in California, who has come in with shipments of fresh grapes this season, has been rewarded with increased prices on eastern markets. His reward for the 38,000 cars of fresh grapes won't equal the return for 65,100 cars last year, quite, but he still has raisins to dispose of.

In California a corporation committee announced 26 permits were issued during October to new manufacturing enterprises. In the corresponding month a year ago two were launched.

Six motion picture permits were issued by the same department.

In the 25 leading Pacific coast cities, building permits for October amounted to $1,000,000, or about 9.4 per cent over September, though not equaling the 1930 mark.

Steel, the backbone of industry, stiffened its position recently and last week showed a continued increase in sales, a survey shows. Sales for 45 weeks this year have totaled $215,513 tons—a gain of 57,770 tons over the same period last year in the coast area, while structural shapes sold a bit higher.

Confident they can throw their full weight, Garner for speaker, the democrats plan to compose their differences on the power division at their caucus December 5.

In the meantime, they expect Governor Sterling, of Texas, to call an election, probably November 28, to fill the vacancy in the 14th Texas district, caused by the death Friday of the lone republican from that state. Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, William Wurzbach, of San Antonio, a democrat and judge of Bexar County, is being boomed as successor to his late brother.

With this district, the fifth New Jersey, where a special election will be held December 1, the democrats would have 219 seats against the republicans' 214, the farmer-laborites one, with a vacancy in the fifth New Hampshire to be filled January 5. On the basis of the recent gubernatorial elections, the democrats expect to take the vacant New Jersey seat.

Already the democrats are formulating a legislative program, although they realize that without a definite political majority it is difficult to pass party legislation when the house is so closely divided.

Representative Pou, of North Carolina, dean of the democratic membership, said that with a hostile administration, it probably would be impossible for his party to enact much needed legislation.

"Probably the only thing we can

Continued in Page 4, Column 7.

MAN, TWO WOMEN HELD IN ROBBERIES

Two Holdups and Attempted Robbery Admitted by Howard Dease

A man and two women, held on suspicion of robbery, Sunday were put under arrest by Atlanta police. The man is Howard Dease, 20, 201 Ivy street, and the women, Dixie Griffith, 19, and Louise Raker, 19, are both of 112 Dawson street, S. W.

Dease admits he and a male companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

Dease and his female companion obtained $60 from the store manager, Arthur Blake, two clerks and three customers.

The second robbery and the attempted robbery were participated in by Dease and his female companion.

Dease says, adding that he admits having held up a cab driver, C. P. Hayes, near the federal prison, on December 25, taking the cab and $10 and attempting to rob another cab driver, W. R. Norris, on the Sawtelle road, two days later.

State To Close Deal for Site Of Prison Farm This Week

Abstract of Title Will Be Laid Before Committee; Building Expected To Get Under Way Jan. 1.

The abstract of title to the Tattnall county site selected for the new state prison farm will be submitted to the state prison farm purchase committee for its approval within the next 10 days.

Judge E. L. Stanley, chairman of the committee, has been informed by J. V. Kelly, owner of the property.

If the deal is completed, the state will begin building the first unit of the new prison on January 1 and will lay plans for a gradual development of the plant to the point where it will be one of the best prison farms in the country, Judge Stanley said.

Plans and specifications of the first unit will be obtained as soon as final details of the purchase have been disposed of. The prison commission's plan is to use the farm as the source of produce for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville

Rains Still Tie Up Panama Canal Traffic

BALBOA, C. Z., Nov. 8.—(AP)— Torrential rains continued to flood the Panama Canal today, tying up shipping and endangering the canal locks.

Seventeen ships were held up, 12 on the Atlantic side and five on the Pacific.

Rainfall at Colon during the last 36 hours was 11 1/2 inches and a 300-mile stretch of river the previous morning. Twelve gates of the Gatun spillway were kept open to drain off the rising waters from the flooded Chagres river. The river was still rising, with the crest of the flood coming down from Salamanca in the mountains.

At Balboa, traffic on a road at Alangula, but there were no slides in the canal.

The principal danger was the possibility of the Gatun lake reaching a level of 88 feet, which would flood the motors which operate the locks.

And the present woman's camp, housing between 300 and 400 prisoners, will be maintained.

The legislature has not provided an appropriation to maintain the new prison farm and when the revenue can no longer be had from its contingent fund, the prison commission will not be able to operate the new farm except for the transfer of enough prisoners to raise produce for state institutions, Judge Stanley said. A soil survey made under the direction of Dr. A. M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, revealed that the land has splendid possibilities and is fertile, he said.

Judge Stanley said that the present prison farm, building and land, has been valued at $300,000, giving an indication of the cost of a new institution to house nearly all of the state's prisoners.

FUNERAL FOR CARAWAY WILL BE HELD TODAY

Impression Grows That Widow Will Succeed Arkansan in Senate.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 8.—(AP)—Hundreds filed through the state capitol for a final and to many a first view of United States Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, whose body lay in state in the rotunda, surrounded by a military guard of honor, most of today before being taken honor to his home city of Jonesboro for funeral services and burial tomorrow.

Although he represented Arkansas in the national senate and house for 18 years, the junior senator, who died Friday night a week after an operation for a kidney ailment, appeared on public occasions in the capital city perhaps less frequently than any of the state's public officials.

As the body of the fiery democrat was borne back to northern Arkansas, where he had resided nearly a half century, the opinion became more widespread that his widow, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, would succeed him.

The choice of his successor is largely in the hands of the state democratic central committee and, although several political leaders were mentioned as prospective candidates, a strong majority believed he was nearing recovery from the operation.

It will be held from the First Methodist church at Jonesboro at 11 a.m.

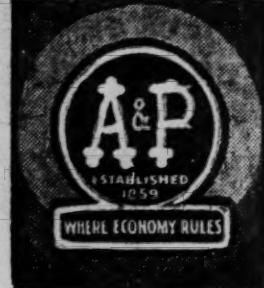

A special congressional delegation, including Senator James Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, will arrive in Jonesboro early tomorrow. The death of the 60-year-old senator came unexpectedly as it was generally believed he was nearing recovery from the operation.

NEW YORK TO GREET MAGYAR WEDNESDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A celebration was arranged today to greet Major Alexander Magyar, who flew the Justice for Hungary from New York to Bicks, Hungary, last July, when he arrives in New York on Wednesday.

Major Magyar is returning on the Aquitania after having received many honors in Europe.

A&P FOOD NEWS

Special Prices For Monday & Tuesday

Encore Brand

Macaroni, Noodles or Spaghetti

PKG. 5c

Encore Cooked with Tomato Sauce
SPAGHETTI 2 CANS 15c

Encore Cooked with Tomato Sauce
SPAGHETTI GLASS JAR 10c

Pineapple	Del Monte Crushed or Sliced	NO. 2 CAN	15c
Corned Beef	Armour's	CAN	17c
Red Beans	Sultana	1-LB. CAN	5c
Quaker Oats	3 CARTONS	25c
Eggs	Selected, Guaranteed	DOZ.	23c
Ivory Soap	Medium	CAKE	7c
Calo Dog Food		CAN	9c
Sunmaid Raisins	CARTON	10c
Corn Meal	12-LB. BAG	19c
Crisco	3-LB. CAN	53c
Grape Juice	A & P—QUART	19c
Pillsbury's Pancake Flour	2 PKGS.	25c

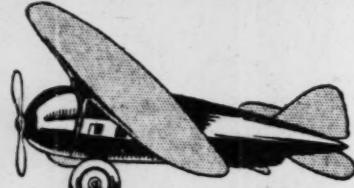

Granulated—Pure Cane
SUGAR LB. 5c

5-Lb. Bag .25c
10-Lb. Bag .50c
25-Lb. Bag .125

18-INCH ALL-METAL

MONOPLANE

FOR 15c

When Purchased With

CAMAY SOAP 3 CAKES 23c

Vegetables & Fruit

Carrots	BIG BUNCH	7c
Rutabagas	POUND	2c
Spinach	2 LBS.	15c
Cabbage	POUND	2c

At A & P Meat Markets

FRESH SPARE

RIBS Lb. 15c

Beef Liver	LB.	15c
Sausage	Little Link	20c
Ham	Center Cuts	25c
Pig Liver	2 LBS.	15c
Breakfast Bacon	LB.	21c

produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to house all of the male prisoners in the new prison. The population of the state prison farm at Milledgeville is approximately 850, the remaining prisoners being assigned to county convict camps. The prisoners in county camps probably will be returned to the state when the highway building program is completed, thus creating the need of a large state prison. Judge Stanley said.

At the Tattnall county farm there are to be four prison buildings when the building program is completed. Old and hardened offenders will be separated and housed separately from the young prisoners and first offenders and the prisoners will be separated according to race, Judge Stanley pointed out.

The old, decrepit and sick prisoners and the tubercular will remain at the present farm in Milledgeville produces for all state institutions, using only a small force for the first few years until a large plant is built.

The cost of the land is more than $120,000, leaving approximately $75,000 or more for construction of a building to house the 50 to 100 prisoners who will be transferred to the Tattnall county property. Judge Stanley said that a first-class prison is contemplated by the commission which will cost more than $500,000, and that this sum probably will be sought from the legislature during a period of years.

The state has more than 8,000 prisoners and when the Tattnall county farm building program is completed, it is planned to

LIVE STOCK PERISH AS PASTURES BURN

Trapped by Forest Fires, Many Clinch County Cattle Die.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—Reports reaching here from Clinch county today said live stock trapped in dried and blazing pastures by forest fires had been destroyed. There were no estimates of the number of animals killed.

The Clinch county correspondent of the Constitution said that unless there is rain soon, in all probability the entire wooded section of the county would be destroyed, as fires continued raging through the dry timber lands.

Both east and west of Valdosta smoke can be seen from the fires that have been burning for a week. Power company officials have sent out crews to clear underbrush away from its lines, in an effort to prevent interruption of service.

A woods fire that broke out inside the city yesterday was turned away from near-by homes by the fire department.

Georgia News Told in Brief

Fine Arts Club.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 8.—The Fine Arts Club, whose membership is composed of students of Thomasville High school, have elected officers to serve for the current year. Those chosen were: Virginia Tuck, president; Evelyn Horne, vice president; Natalie Brown, secretary and press agent; Nelle Thompson, chairman of the program committee.

P.T.A. Meeting.

LUDOWICI, Ga., Nov. 8.—The Parent Teacher Association in Glennville will hold their regular session Monday night at 7:30 p.m. A special feature will be a hygiene and hygiene program which will be put on by ex-service men of Tattnall county.

Growers' Association.

LUDOWICI, Ga., Nov. 8.—The members of the Glennville Growers Association will meet at the home of J. E. Miller, Ludowici, at 6 o'clock Monday. J. E. Roberts, of Philadelphia, and A. L. Duncan, of Lyons, Ga., will address the association.

Good Potato Crop.

LUDOWICI, Ga., Nov. 8.—In spite of the drought which has existed in this section for the past three months, farmers in Long county report a fair potato yield. T. J. Tanner, living near this place, made 165 bushels of Porto Ricans on less than half an acre of ground without any fertilizer.

Negro Is Suicid.

TENNILLE, Ga., Nov. 8.—Charlie Jenkins, negro, who has lived in, or near, Tennille, but who recently has been staying in Sandersville, committed suicide at his home there yesterday by shooting himself in the chest with a shotgun. Relatives say he became despondent because he had been unable to secure work to support his family.

Hotel Burned.

GLENVILLE, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Kennedy hotel, a Glenville landmark, and an adjoining residence were destroyed by fire this morning. The residence was owned by Mrs. Henry Griffin, widow of Dr. W. C. Curry, publisher of the Glenville Standard. The hotel was owned and operated by Mrs. Cleveland Eddington. Both the hotel and the residence were insured. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

To Sell Fair Exhibits.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—Farmers may sell or exchange their products on display at the South Georgia Free Fair, which opens here tomorrow under a new scheme inaugurated by the directors of the show. No charge will be made for the privilege. The system is unique in its operation here. In addition to the farm and home products on display, there will be the usual midway attractions.

Possums Plentiful.

WACROSS, Ga., Nov. 8.—(UP)—Possums are more than usually plentiful and easy to get here this year, because of a dry summer. According to the farmer, "The possums are out foraging for something to eat, and for water, and it's an easy matter to pick one up most any time, with a good dog."

Newton to Speak.

WACROSS, Ga., Nov. 8.—Ralph Newton, superintendent of the city schools of Wacross, will deliver an address in Douglas Monday, this being part of the celebration of American Education Week.

Seriously Injured.

JESUP, Ga., Nov. 8.—J. D. Stafford, Hinesville, was seriously injured in an automobile accident this afternoon between Ludowici and Hinesville, sustaining a fractured jaw, a six-inch gash in his thigh, serious bruises on his head, and numerous cuts about his body.

BARGE MURDER TRIAL IN SAVANNAH TODAY

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—R. F. Weston will stand trial for his life in superior court tomorrow when a jury will hear details of the killing of Joe Kent and W. T. Strickland aboard a boat in Wassaw sound, October 25. Weston is charged with the murder of both.

Weston's defense lawyer, for the alleged slayer, has indicated that Weston's plea will be that he killed the men in self-defense. There were four men aboard the boat, Kent, Strickland, Weston and H. L. Buckner.

Kent and Strickland were killed with a single shot from a shotgun in the hands of Weston. Weston claims that Kent and Strickland had beaten him and threatened to throw him overboard.

ON HANDKERCHIEFS ... ON PILLOWS

BREATHE Your Cold AWAY

VAPEX

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

The delightful inhalants discovered in England during the war

Town Theater Opens Season in Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Town theater opens its fall season tomorrow night with a presentation of "As Husband Go," a comedy by Rachel Crothers.

This is one of five major plays to be produced during the season at the Town. The play will be repeated Tuesday night. Mrs. E. George Butler is directing it.

N. S. TURNER PASSES AT COVINGTON HOME

COVINGTON, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—Turner, 60, died unexpectedly at his home 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. Turner was president of the Covington Cotton Mills and of the local bank and was a financial leader of the country. He came to Covington from Millidgeville and was born in North Carolina.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Sunday night. Mr. Turner is survived by his wife; one son, N. S. Turner Jr.; three daughters, Mrs. E. B. Rogers, Covington; Mrs. Robert Arnold, Athens, and Miss Louie Turner, Covington, and two granddaughters.

MRS. A. W. CARSWELL DIES AT WAYNESBORO

WAYNESBORO, Ga., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Arabella Walker Carswell died at her home, "Bellevue," near Waynesboro, Sunday morning. Mrs. Carswell was born in 1868 in Augusta, the daughter of Colonel Clarence Valentine Walker and Lucy Pearson Walker. She died from tuberculosis.

The College Young Baptists of Georgia closed a three-day convention today after a selection of Mercer University at Macon for the 1932 meeting.

Clarence Jordan, Talbotton, a University of Georgia student, was elected president of the organization, succeeding Miss Edna Hendrix.

She was married on April 3, 1895, to Porter A. Carswell, Sr., a member of the Methodist church and an earnest worker in the Daughters of the Confederacy, in which she held an honorary lifetime membership.

Surviving Mrs. Carswell are two sons, John Wright Carswell, of Savannah, and Porter Wilkins Carswell, who was living with her at the time of her death; a daughter, Mrs. E. Miller, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Walter C. Davidson, of Greensboro, Ga.; one brother, John D. Walker, of Atlanta; one brother-in-law, John Devine Carswell, of Savannah, and one grandson, John Devine Carswell II, of Savannah.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. E. M. Overby, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Magnolia cemetery here.

WASHINGTON HEALTH UNIT MAKES REPORT

TENNILLE, Ga., Nov. 8.—Dr. O. L. Rogers and Mrs. Roy English of the Washington county health unit, who conducted a campaign of immunizations of the schools for anti-tuberculosis, will this month center their activities on the examination of school children for defects, and also the giving of tubercular tests as a preliminary to the chest clinic to be held in the county in December.

A report of their work this year up to November 1 includes: Visits to schools, 274; public meetings addressed, 19; talks at school, 117; children examined, 928; defectives, 531; defects: incomplete, 93; defects corrected, 121; bulletins sent, 347; immunizations, anti-tuberculosis, 1,442; hookworm, 284; toxo-anti-toxins, 4 (area, 55 acres); outline distributed, 47,600 grains; yeast, 1,585 pounds; sanitary inspections, 22; separate tanks installed, 4; patients examined at chest clinic, 202; visits to T. B. patients, 92.

In the vital statistics report, births exceed the deaths; total births, 354 (white, 107; colored, 247); total deaths, 210 (white, 67; colored, 143). No maternal deaths, or none from diphtheria. Only 20 of the 210 deaths were caused from communicable diseases.

SERGEANT SUCCUMBS ON SAVANNAH STREET

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—Sergeant P. Thompson, company D, eighth United States infantry, stationed at Fort Slocum, died in the Marine hospital today after he collapsed while walking with a companion.

Police tonight said death resulted from drinking a disinfectant, but since Thompson was a soldier and died on government property, state officials did not plan an inquest.

GEORGIAN SUCCUMBS TO CRASH INJURIES

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—Sam McNair, of Wrens, Ga., died today of injuries received last night when his automobile collided with another on the Deans Bridge road near here.

Willie McGerk, negro, was killed last night when his automobile crashed into a fence in the city.

TREASURY WILL SELL $75,000,000 IN BILLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Secretary Mellon announced today that the treasury would sell $75,000,000 in treasury bills next Friday.

The bills, which will run for 91 days, will be dated November 15 and mature February 15 and be sold to the highest bidder. Proceeds of the sale will be used to retire $60,000,000 in bills which mature November 16 and furnish funds to meet government expenses.

State Deaths And Funerals

SOLON M. MOYE, SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 8.—Solomon M. Moye, died last night at his residence at the age of 58 years. He was born in Davistown, Washington county, Georgia, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George J. Moye.

Mr. Moye is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louis Moye; one daughter, Mrs. Mildred Smith, Tifton; one son, John Moye, and three sisters, Mrs. Sally M. Neely, of Vidalia; Mrs. John McNeely, of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. John G. Neely, of Atlanta, and brother, W. C. Moye, of Savannah.

Services were held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at his residence, Rev. W. H. Hitchcock, officiating. Burial will be conducted there. The body will be taken Monday morning to Saundersville, his old home, for interment.

ON HANDKERCHIEFS ... ON PILLOWS

BREATHE Your Cold AWAY

VAPEX

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

The delightful inhalants discovered in England during the war

Collegiate Young Baptists To Meet at Mercer in 1932

TIMBER OWNERS MEET TODAY IN VALDOSTA

Formation of Organization for Forest Fire Protection Planned

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—Owners of timbered lands in Lowndes county will hold a meeting in Valdosta Monday to discuss plans for the formulation of an association to adequately protect timber from fire and promote reforestation.

Benjamin Beal, of the staff of the Georgia forest service, is expected to attend the meeting and assist in forming the organization.

The recent ravages of forest fires throughout this section have aroused property owners to action, and steps will be taken to prevent further fires if possible.

Owners of large timber properties in south Georgia estimate that the losses this season from fires will be as great as the total shrinkage from deflated business.

GEORGIA TO DEBATE TEAM OF N.Y.U. TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—Georgia and New York University will debate the question of divorce here tomorrow. McCarty Creighton, Bulldog end, who helped defeat the Violets 7 to 6 on the gridiron yesterday, carrying half of the battle for the southern team.

Frank Hawkins, of Macon, Ga., will debate the negative side of "Repeal of divorce is a social asset," with Shaw against the team from New York.

The debate, postponed from today because of technical trouble at a broadcasting station, will be held at 12:30 p.m. E. S. T. and at 8 p.m. the Georgians will argue the same subject with a team from Columbia University, Brewenshaw's home in Jacksonville, Fla.

CLUBWOMEN IN CAR STOPPED AS SPEEDER

NAHANT, Ga., Nov. 8.—Said to have been traveling at a speed of 60 miles an hour, an automobile driven by a chauffeur was stopped in Nahant Thursday afternoon by County Policeman J. F. Bennett. The driver was released and paid $10 fine.

Officers of the car were officials of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, including Mrs. S. V. Sanford, Athens, president; Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, former president, and Mrs. M. E. Judd, Dalton, vice president. The car was owned by Mrs. H. P. Jones, of Statesboro.

Interest payments were: First nine months of 1931 $154,472.26; similar period for 1930, $150,835.67, an increase of $3,636.60. The interest payments in 1931 were on the following: Bonded indebtedness, $154,178.81; miscellaneous, $294.08.

Operating expenses for the first nine months of 1931 totaled $1,286,427.68; similar period 1930, $1,258,150.85, an advance of $26,100.00.

Decision to withdraw the motion was reached today in a conference between defense attorneys, Mr. Perryman and Judge C. F. McLaughlin.

Dudley was shot to death with his own pistol after he and Mary Cone returned from a home run on Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. Dudley, 21, was serving a sentence of 10 years for the killing of Prescot Dudley, who was withdrawn from the prison last September 1.

The girl was convicted of voluntary manslaughter August 31. She pleaded self-defense.

FISK DEAN OF WOMEN DIES AFTER ACCIDENT

WAYCROSS, Ga., Nov. 8.—The last two quarterly conferences of the year for the Waycross district, Rev. James R. Webb, presiding elder, will be held next Wednesday and Friday.

On Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock will come the fourth conference for the Trinity church and on Friday night at the same hour the fourth conference for the First church.

The dean was en route to her home in Athens, Ga., when the accident occurred.

ABOLITION OF WAR SURE, SAYS PASTOR

MACON, Ga., Nov. 8.—(P)—Asserting that the world is interdependent as never before, Dr. W. R. Mackay in his Armistice sermon at the First Presbyterian church this morning predicted that civilization eventually will abolish war by a general agreement.

Dr. Mackay was conducting the annual Armistice Day service of the Joseph N. Neal Jr. post of the American Legion.

The Legion post will observe Armistice Day Saturday evening in Street Auditorium and a public meeting in the Mayfield Auditorium. Edgar B. Dunlap, Gainesville, active in affairs of the Legion nationally, will make the principal address. A joint meeting of the local post and its auxiliary will be held at 7:30 Wednesday at the post residence.

Verifying the most fascinating of the etchings and pastels held in an intensity of appeal the grotesque eloquence of time as it has affected the miraculous art of the Khmers. The Cambodian jungle exacted a toll of fearless experiments, leaving the carved head figures distorted but creating an animalistic background in which Miss Douglass captured in her mind and hand to transfer to the plates.

Fiendish Artistic.

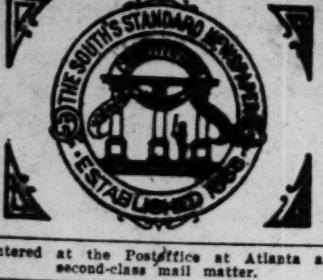

Probably second in appeal to the giant stairway is the etching of the "Tower-Angkor" with the huge oriental head figures surrounded with towers and figures, the latter resembling an armchair dream of lost art—the warrior tendencies of the Khmers combined with the artistic.

Back of the mere beauty of the etchings and pastels is a story of romance and adventure which carried Miss Douglass into the tangled jungle of Cambodia with a group of French archaeologists bent on reclaiming the

Angkor, Ancient Capital of Art, Revived in Alabama Girl's Pastels

BY ROY ROBERT.

Breaths of Angkor, that amazing city of the Cambodian jungle once inhabited by a million Khmers, now the home of wildcats and simian tigers, with vipers and snakes, and artists at High Museum of Entered at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

Telephone WAL 4505.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
Daily and 1 Wk. 1 Mo. 3 Mo. 6 Mo. 1 Yr.
Sunday $2.50 $5.00 $10.00
Daily 16c 70c 2.00 4.00 7.50
Single Copy 10c 25c 50c 75c 1.00

R. F. D. and similar non-delivery towns for 1st, 2nd and 3rd zones only $5.00

Daily (without Sunday) 1 yr. $2.00

Daily and Sunday 1 yr. $7.50

KELLY-SMITH COMPANY, national representative, New York, Chicago, Detroit,
Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 250 news dealers after it can be had; Hoteling's News, 25th
Broward and Franklin street (Times Building); 25th and Franklin street, 10c;
Bullock Park and Grand Central Depot,

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents. Receipts given for subscription payments are not in accordance with our rules and are therefore not responsible for subscription payments until received at office of publication.

Member of The Associated Press.

The Associated Press is exclusively entrusted with the publication of news dispatches credited to it or to other news services to this paper and also the local news published herein.

ATLANTA, GA., NOV. 9, 1931.

THE AUGURY OF GARNER.

The MacDonald-Baldwin "nationalist" coalition won a smashing victory in the recent British election and takes over control of the house of commons from the labor-liberal combine that has had full sway of it since 1929, with a MacDonald labor ministry in office.

The new house organized the other day by re-electing the former speaker, a labor-liberal, without opposition or note of dissent. He is a man distinguished for parliamentary ability and experience, impartiality and fairness of conduct, and personally acceptable to members of all parties. But the main fact in the incident is that the speaker of the house of commons in the British parliament is the presiding officer only. His position carries scarcely any partisan significance. He has nothing to do with the party arrangements for carrying on the work of the house. His whole and sole business is to preside over the proceedings with the view to according justice to every member, applying rigidly the rules of order, and keeping the business of the body running smoothly and satisfactorily to the membership and the public.

Here in the United States we do things differently. The election of one of our parties to power in the house means a speaker with the character and ability to impress the character and power of his party upon the conduct of the house and the legislation of the nation, as far as the party can legislate. For that reason the speaker of the house is invested with a high order of partisan and political power. He is often even more the spokesman of the party than is its president in the White House. He often is the arbiter of what policies his party shall seek to enact for the country. The eyes of the people focus upon him to understand the policies and purposes of the party he represents in his exalted and forceful office.

In the present anomalous composition of the incoming house at Washington the prospect that "Hon- est Jack" Garner, of Texas, will be its speaker is a most welcome augury for both the democratic party and this rapidly-growing democratic nation.

AMERICA TAKES TO THE AIR.

The remarkable growth of civil aeronautics in the United States, especially during the past five years, is strikingly revealed in a bulletin issued by the aeronautical branch of the United States department of commerce.

Nearly 40,000,000 miles a year are now being flown by scheduled air transport services and more than 100,000,000 by miscellaneous operators. The manufacturing side of the industry is now producing more than $60,000,000 worth of aircraft parts and accessories per year.

In 1927 there were 127 airplanes in service and reserve in scheduled air transport operations; today there are more than 600. Five years ago there were only 18 services in operation, while today there are 122. Total mileage in airways amounting to only 8,522 miles in 1926 had reached 29,887 by this year. Foreign extensions of these airways totaled only 152 miles five years ago but now stretch out over nearly 20,000 miles.

From 1927 to 1930 pilots of regular scheduled air lines had increased from 107 to 675. The total personnel employed, including mechanics and ground crews, jumped from 462 to 3,472 during these four years.

Mail carried in 1926 totaled $10,855 pounds; in 1930 it had grown to $8,513,675. Express and freight increased during the same period 1,733,000 pounds to 2,869,000.

Most significant of all the figures presented in this governmental bulletin are those showing that while only 5,782 passengers were carried in scheduled air transport operations during 1926, more than 400,

000 "took to the air" in making journeys during 1930.

Civil aeronautics—which means regular scheduled passenger, mail and freight transportation service by air—was firmly established in the nations of Europe long before it had gotten little more than a precarious foothold in America, where the public withheld its approval and use until air travel had become a matter of course across the Atlantic.

Great passenger ships are constantly in transit between the various capitals and principal cities of Europe and early prejudices due to the "hazard of flying" have long since disappeared.

This trepidation over flying was the chief factor in retarding the development of passenger and freight lines in America. Now that it has largely disappeared here as well as in other sections of the world, America, with its long distances and its enterprising commercial operators, already has assumed its rightful rank as the world's leader in civil aviation activities.

NEVER LOST OUR GRIP.

After the conclusion of the War Between the States the people of the south were the most abused and criminally maltreated of any people known to modern history. Had the people of Germany and Austria been dealt with by the allies after the World War as the southern people were between the dictatorship of Thad Stevens in 1867 and the repentance of President Hayes in 1877—well, they would have something really crucial to complain about now.

Fortunately, most of the evils of "reconstruction" have been outlived and a genuine political, social and industrial reconstruction achieved by the grit, purposes and performances of our southern people. The statistical position of the south, barring the mistakes of our cotton policy, was never more solid in facts and more promising of future prosperity.

The meanest thing that happened to the southern people in the era mentioned was the accumulation of a habit of thinking of ourselves as the tail-enders of the nation—that the other sections were always rich and happy, and we were deep in the red; that we were only "newers of wood and drawers of water" for the money powers of the east and the food and feed producers of the west; and that we must yield first place in genius, enterprise, achievement and material progress to the body running smoothly and satisfactorily to the membership and the public.

Denying all that back-pedaling psychology will get us nothing now. That we have been obsessed by it is the truth of history. Even today some of our intellectual high-brows are deprecating the second-rate character of our cultural institutions and their ambitions. But the facts have been more strongly in our favor than against us. We have created no financial panics nor gambled ourselves into deep economic depressions, nor thrown labor into strikes and invoked the military arm of the government to preserve domestic peace, order and property.

We have eaten our own sour grapes in our day and set our children's teeth on edge as they succeeded us. We have been the world's champion complainers, but we have more than held our own in the general movement. Today the south has less to complain about and more to hope for than the people in any other section of the national domain.

DEFLATE THE DEFLATORS.

No sooner do signs of reviving business begin to appear to hearten the public and stimulate confidence in the soundness of our economic resources than there appear accompanying signs that the bulls and bears, who have no other business than to speculate upon the stock and commodity exchanges, are cocked and primed for a fresh orgy of gambling with the labor and goods of the people.

Without troubling to meticulously weigh the pro and con arguments of the exchange traders in defense of their operations, there has been evidence of a growing sentiment for the more perfect protection of the people's money invested in the essential business enterprises of the people.

Napoleon was a dark complexioned man. He was of short build, predominating, and very young when he began.

Ploughmen wear guitars round their legs while at work.

Harold mustardied his men before the Battle of Hastings.

In case of asphyxiation apply artificial respiration until the patient is dead.

A peninsula is an island but not quite.

To be healthy don't eat any kind of food.

What happens when there is an eclipse of the sun? A great many people come out to look at it.

BEAUFORT MEETING WILL HEAR HOWELL

BEAUFORT, S. C., Nov. 8.—(P)—The Beaufort Co-operation Association, which is to promote the development of the south Atlantic coast section, will meet here tomorrow.

Leading businessmen in 10 cities of four states are expected to attend. The cities now members of the organization are Georgetown, Columbia, Charleston and Beaufort, S. C.; Savannah, Brunswick, Atlanta and Charlotte, Ga.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Charlotte.

Clark Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, and Stuart C. Groomer, of Charlotte, textile manufacturer, are among those who will address tomorrow's meeting.

It is to be hoped that Japan has calculated the reparations question carefully in advance.

There are 27 democratic governors, 19 who are republicans, 1 independent and 1 farmer-laborite. That is true, and just as interesting as it is true.

So long as he can help organize the senate George Moses is willing for the house to wander still farther into the wilderness.

It is to be hoped that Japan has calculated the reparations question carefully in advance.

Most significant of all the figures presented in this governmental bulletin are those showing that while only 5,782 passengers were carried in scheduled air transport operations during 1926, more than 400,

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Wheat

Calling at the soviet trade offices the other day, the official in charge told me that the soviet union will not export any wheat during the coming year. This will mean that there is to be a temporary cessation of the policy of wheat-dumping which had disastrous effects upon the American and Canadian markets in 1930 and 1931.

The reason for this abrupt change in the soviet union's system is that Russia has just concluded a trade agreement with France whereby the Russians will export huge quantities of oil to France and in return obtain all the machinery they stand in need of for the coming year. Under this agreement there will be no exchange of money. It is plain barter.

The trade commissioners took the opportunity of pointing out to me that this new agreement with France ought to show conclusively that Russia did not dump wheat or anything else in the past, the object of wrecking or unbalancing the economic equilibrium of other countries, but only because she was constrained by the necessity of obtaining machinery for which she lacked the means.

I give the information for what it is worth.

In Belgium.

A new phenomenon has produced itself in Belgium of late. Several Flemish recruits, having been called for service, have written the minister of war to tell them that they are in the army of a state that has been oppressing their people for a century. They point out that the king promised full equality for Flemings and Walloons in his proclamation after the war, but so good as nothing has been done to implement this promise.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

They further state that all the announcements about settling the Flemish question once and for all have resulted in no improvement for the Flemings except that things are worse now than they ever were.

...BY GENE HINTON...

SUNDAY afternoon's clear, crisp weather attracted a lot of people to Candler field, the biggest Sabbath crowd in months, as a matter of fact. And not all the visitors were content to peer into hangars and gape at the flying airplanes; an unusually large percentage of them dug down in their jeans and produced the amount necessary for rides aloft, the Blevins Aircraft Corporation and the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service reported. Non-commercial planes likewise were put up during most of the day. The big Sunday crowd, which was sent here in connection with the formal opening of the Walgreen Company's new drug store made a large number of trips and carried a total of 191 passengers, all as guests of the company. Carl V. Vickery, widely known pilot, brought the luxurious craft here several days ago and probably will return to the east today. The Chapman Spark Plug Company's Pitmead autogiro, which will be here until Thursday in connection with Armistice Day ceremonies, gave the crowd a treat by flying slow and fast, taking off at steep angles and descending vertically. The windmill plane was flown here by Captain Lewis A. Yancey, who flew the ocean blue with Rogers Williams.

Mayor James L. Key and two friends, A. L. Belle Isle and J. P. Womack, will leave Atlanta Saturday morning and will take off at 8 o'clock this morning for Jacksonville, Fla., in Eastern Air Transport's regular morning plane to Florida. The militant mayor will discuss the prohibition question in an address before the Jacksonville Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight and the party will return by plane Tuesday morning. Today's journey will be the mayor's first cross-country flight and his second flight of any description. He left a few weeks ago for the first time when a Condor was sent here for demonstration purposes by Eastern Air, and became thoroughly "sold" on flying.

Winship Nunnally, widely-known Atlantaan and governor for Georgia of the National Aeronautic Association, Sunday morning took delivery on his new airplane, Bellanca Pacemaker, powered with a 300-horsepower Wasp Juniper, which will fly here from the Williams Field, the Verville Verner, who has several hours solo time on his Continental-powered Verville Trainer—which, incidentally, he plans to keep—probably will switch over to the larger ship as soon as he acquires a private pilot's license. He made the deal for the Bellanca last winter at which time he made arrangements to take delivery on the Bellanca any time within a period of 12 months. The new plane is handsomely finished in two tones of red and is well appointed inside.

In preparation for the opening of its new Atlanta-Augusta-Charleston-Savannah passenger service on November 20, Eastern Air Transport, Inc. has transferred Jimmie Shevane to Augusta, where he will be traffic representative for the company. Shevane, who was one of the best-liked members of the traffic organization here, was field traffic manager and later was shifted to a post in the downtown ticket office. He will remain for his new job Tuesday night.

An Eastern Air representative has been in Augusta for several days to make arrangements at Daniel field, the municipal airport for the handling of the new traffic.

Forest and brush fires in the coastal region of the Carolinas are giving air mail pilots nothing less than "fits," according to dispatches from

AL SMITH REPUDIATES 'COMMERCIAL' BACKERS

Former Governor Says Organizations Using Name for Personal Purpose.

NEW YORK. Nov. 8.—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith today declared publicly a Philadelphia and a New York organization seeking to raise money ostensibly for the promotion of his candidacy for president in 1932.

The Philadelphia organization, headed by Miles William Lederer, editor of Plain Facts, addressed a circular letter to voters, claiming to be soliciting $2,000,000 voters to the standard of the democratic leader. A $1 year subscription to Plain Facts, he said, would entitle the subscriber to receive his newspaper free.

He asserted he had not authorized circulation of any such petition "and cannot countenance its use under my name."

Sunday Air Mail

From— Schedule—Arrived—
New York ... 4:35 a.m. 6:30 a.m.
New York ... 8:00 p.m. 10:30 p.m.
New Orleans ... 6:30 p.m. Cancelled
Miami ... 4:40 p.m. 5:05 p.m.
Chicago ... 4:19 a.m. 5:10 a.m.
Miami ... 9:15 a.m. 10:15 a.m.
Cincinnati ... 11:20 a.m. 1:13 p.m.
Los Angeles ... 3:00 p.m. 3:40 p.m.

For— Schedule—Left—
New York ... 8:00 a.m. 9:00 a.m.
New York ... 7:00 p.m. 7:00 p.m.
New Orleans ... 5:30 a.m. 7:30 a.m.
Miami ... 10:00 a.m. 11:00 a.m.
Miami ... 9:15 a.m. 10:15 a.m.
Cincinnati ... 1:13 p.m. 1:13 p.m.
Los Angeles ... 3:00 p.m. 3:40 p.m.

NOTE: The plane to New York, scheduled to leave at 11:45 a.m.; the plane to Chicago will depart at mid-morning late Saturday from New York, scheduled to arrive here at 11:10 a.m. and the late plane from Miami, scheduled to arrive here about midnight, are not listed on the above tables.

Charlotte Sunday night. An Eastern Air Transport five-place Kingbird was reported held at Jacksonville, Fla., because smoke from the fires made flying over the Carolinas unsafe. Saturday another northbound plane was forced to miss Charleston, S.C., entirely and another put back to the south because of smoke in her engines. But they are married and it does not click. Williams starts to write a play and Miss Gallagher, originally played by Loretta Young, aids in a study scene and Miss Harlow, now Mrs. Stewart Smith, discovers them. "We're fated," she says. The fadeout finds Miss Young and Mr. Williams breathlessly kissing.

—ROY ROBERT.

BAXTER DOES WELL AS "THE CISCO KID"

Warner Baxter adds to his glory in the titular role of "The Cisco Kid," the western movie thriller suggested by one of O. Henry's short stories. The picture is the screen feature at the Fox theater, offering a pleasant relief from the customary urban background of most films.

An excellent portrayal of the bad hombre-cabellero combination by Baxter is the high spot in the film, the other leading roles include much that is to be complimented. Conchita Montenegro, as "Carmencita," the half-caste Mexican girl with a full-fledged Mexican way, provided the element of feminine allurement, supplemented by the young, matronly loveliness of Lora Young.

"Sergeant Mickey Dunn," of the border rangers, is played by Edmund Lowe in a burlesquing fashion that may or may not add to the good quality of the picture.

Story and setting, however, are not the swift, breezy, polished action that could please, exciting, breathtaking and generally enjoyable even without the careful selection of cast that apparently was made to assure the success of the film.

In the stage program this week, the theme of the feature film is closely followed by "Carmencita," the picture of Fanchon and Marco. Principals of the bill include Melino and Davis in novel wise-cracking and eccentric stepping; Ross Vandy, valentine, who spans octaves easier than the Brooklyn Bridge; and Williams, who is the star of the show.

Colonel Young stated, "The glamour has been removed. The romance of successful pioneering alone remains. The users of air transportation are sincere and employ it primarily because it means a saving in time and money."

ROBERT WILLIAMS IN CAPITOL PICTURE

Jean Harlow started something when she landed in Hollywood with "platinum hair" and the movie capital could not pass up so great a talent as she. She came to the Capitol of Saturday in the film "Platinum Blonde," aided by Robert Williams, well-known to southern stage patrons, who died last week. Winona Loretta Young is the ingenue.

Pleasing enough, light enough and performed properly, the picture was "ready made" for Robert Williams, who played the part of an irresponsible newspaper reporter who captured the platinum hair and won't let right back again—just as you knew he would in the beginning—to a girl reporter, Loretta Young.

Even if the director, Frank Capra, did choose to overdraw the newspaper background, the picture perhaps profited from the departure from a

The usual generous offering of screen shorts completed the program at the Fox, and, to do them justice, contribute nobly to the entertainment. —ERNEST RUBIN.

CHATTERTON GIVEN HACKNEYED ROLE

Through the alchemy of her acting, Ruth Chatterton converts "Once a Lady" from the sheerest dross into something that can be real entertainment, gold but still does contribute to give off a convincing glint.

This accomplished young woman overcomes practically all the handicaps that can be placed in the way of a good actress in making you forget the sins of the writers in the week's film offering at the Georgia.

The original Ruth Chatterton, who fashioned the picture, the startling idea of an unconventional Russian woman married to a young Briton and bet by the deadly responsibility of life in the bosom of his stifling family. This highly theatrical family finally wins her husband from her and then, through that device dear to the hearts of the picture makers, a train-wreck, she assumes the official status of a corpse.

Of course she stays dead, for her child's sake, and of course she becomes a courtesan and, still following the natural laws, she saves her daughter from a fate worse than death. But Miss Chatterton, bless her, wades through all the stage in grand fashion and gives some spine-tingling fun, whereupon the picture ends.

The tubercular became known as a gauch, and his sour disposition failed to win him to her. Constant rebuffs to all attempts at friendliness and intimacy took care of that. Soon, his tent was visited by himself.

Another Precautionary Step.

"This man has entire his entire time to plant a garden and raising flowers, another precautionary step in the plan. While everything arranged, we began the actual work of digging the tunnel. We gathered in the tent, where a trap-door in the board floor let us attack the ground. We dug straight down. A wooden box was filled with dirt and top soil, lowered it into the tunnel opening with wires. Flower boxes were placed all around the tent, to disguise our activities.

The stage show is only fairly good, but aroused an amazing amount of audible appreciation from Saturday night's crowd. Perhaps the performances of Tech and Georgia had something to do with the festive spirit.

Despite the fact that he is, at times, quite a bore, the author, humorist Larry Rich adds little or nothing to the bill that includes the usual tap dances, acrobatic dancers, hick comedians, etc. Phil Rich's impersonations, while decidedly hackneyed, are perhaps the brightest spot in a drab presentation.

The feature starts at 11:40, 2:20, 5:35 and 10:15 o'clock. The stage program at 1:15, 3:35, 6:35 and 8:30 o'clock. —LEWIS HAWKINS.

Theater Programs Pictures and Stage Shows

FOX.—"The Cisco Kid," with Warner Baxter and Jean Harlow, reel and short subjects. Special Armistice overture by Fox concert orchestra. Directed by Al Evans at the organ. On the stage, Fanchon & Marco's "Carmencita."

GEORGIA.—"Once a Lady," with Ruth Chatterton, etc. Newwear and short subjects. Vincent Kay conducting. On the stage, R. S. & V. Vanderville, headlined by Larry Rich.

First-Run Pictures

CAPITOL.—"Platinum Blonde," with Jean Harlow, etc. Newwear and short subjects.

GRANDE.—"Riders of the Purple Sage," with George O'Brien, etc. Newwear and short subjects.

Second-Run Pictures

ALAMO.—"Passion Flower," Rialto—"The Spirit of Notre Dame."

Neighborhood Theaters

BUCKHEAD.—"Murder by the Clock," at 2:30, 4:15, 6:00, 7:30, 9:45.

DEKALB.—"Song of India," at 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00.

MADISON.—"Unfaithful," at 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00.

PALACE.—"A Free Soul," at 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00.

FONSE DE LEON.—"Strangers and Tenth Street," "Night Angel," at 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00.

WEST END.—"The Man in Possession," at 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00.

CAPITOL

All-Star Concert Series Presents

DON COSSACKS

Russian Male Chorus

36 Singing Horsemen of the Steppes

"Sensational" reputation packed Carnegie Hall.—N. Y. World-Telegram.

AUDITORIUM

Wed. Night, Nov. 11

Seats on Sale at Davison-Paxon's

$2.50, $2, $1.50, $1

PLATINUM BLONDE

With Robert Williams and Loretta Young

25c

Added Attractions THE LEGION ON PARADE

35c

6 to 11

WHAT Twist of Fate Had Wrecked This Woman's Life?

Every woman's heart will understand the torment in her soul!

RUTH CHATTERTON

in Once a Lady' With IVOR NOVELLO

And Another Big-Time Vanderville Show! LARRY RICH

ELDER-BROOKES. What dances!

PHIL RICH

In his famous character, "Old Man Goo!"

Larry Rich as Master of Ceremonies

A Public Theatre: KEITH'S GEORGIA

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

LOS ANGELES OPEN AIR HELD OVER! MONDAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY GEORGE O'BRIEN

ZANE GREY'S Most Popular Story

"RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE"

The Picture for All the Family

SELECTED LOCAL FEATURES MEET METROTONE NEWS

Ralph McGill, Sports Editor
Clarence Nixon
Jimmy Jones
Walter Wilkes
Roy E. White

SPORTS

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

PAGE SIX

ATLANTA, GA., MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 9, 1931.

Grantland Rice
W. O. McGeehan
Henry McLemore
Alan J. Gould
Walter Trumbull

FIRST SPORTS EACH DAY

Georgia, Tennessee, Tulane Continue Apace in Conference Race

NEW YORK PRESS PRAISES GEORGIA HIGHLY

BULLDOGS, VOLS, WAVE CONTINUE IN LOOP RACE

Interest Now Centers on Georgia-Tulane Game on Saturday.

By Jimmy Jones.

The march of the unmastered trio of Southern conference football—Tennessee, Tulane and Georgia—continued Saturday and Sunday, and there was only one close squeak.

Georgia's Bulldogs, playing on a field at New York, came out victorious over N. Y. U. by 7-6, the identical score of last year. And, unrefined by that vast crowd, Vernon Smith laid his helmet on the ground and kicked the smile out of the Violets just as the Catfish had done in 1930.

Georgia's victory and the 27-0 triumph of Tulane over the Auburn Tigers left the two great rivals running neck and neck for the game at Athens next Saturday that has all the advance credentials for one of those epic struggles that every generation or so will look back upon.

VOLS ROMP.

Tennessee had a romp with Carson Newman's Parsons and won, 31-0, while Major Bob Neyland and several of his stars sat complacently among the other spectators at the Vandy game.

Maryland's Old Liners, who previously had occupied a sort of second-place glory by being the fourth unbeaten team in the conference, were ushered into the "lost" column, firmly and convincingly, by the Vanderbilt Commodores, 39-12.

Vandy's showing adds further interest to the eternal triangle of football, the Commodores will play Tennessee at Knoxville Saturday if the emphasis is on the if; the Commodores should win, the victor at Athens would just about emerge with the conference crown.

LITTLE EVIDENCE.

There is very little evidence on which to hang a comparison of Tulane and Georgia. The game will witness a contest between two teams that have a couple of beautifully balanced backfields. Potential all-southerners will be watched in the performances of Jerry Dalrymple, of the Greenies, and Smith, of the Bulldogs.

And the well-co-ordinated offensives of the two rivals will project such ball carrying into the spotlight as Don Zimmerman and Billie, the Wills, and Georgia's great quartet of Kay, Roberts, Downes and Dickens, not to mention Buster Mott, the hero of Yankee stadium, whose feat of returning that kickoff will be remembered with the home run deeds of Ruth and Gehrig.

Georgia undoubtedly has played the harder schedule, but those courageous New Orleans fans contend that Tulane would have beaten the same teams that Georgia beat. Vandy is the only team that both elevens have met and Tulane won by a larger score, 19-0. But that means very little, considering that the Bulldogs, in beating Vandy, 9-0, were a bit flat from much traveling.

SEEK REVENGE.

And Georgia will be goaded to accomplish the superhuman Saturday by the memory of those Tulane defeats of 1929 and 1930 at Columbus, Ga., and New Orleans, respectively. Just how much the hard game with N. Y. U. and the long trip took out of Georgia is unknown, but the fact remains that Georgia saved her passes and that she faced a line that can at least be compared favorably with that of Tulane.

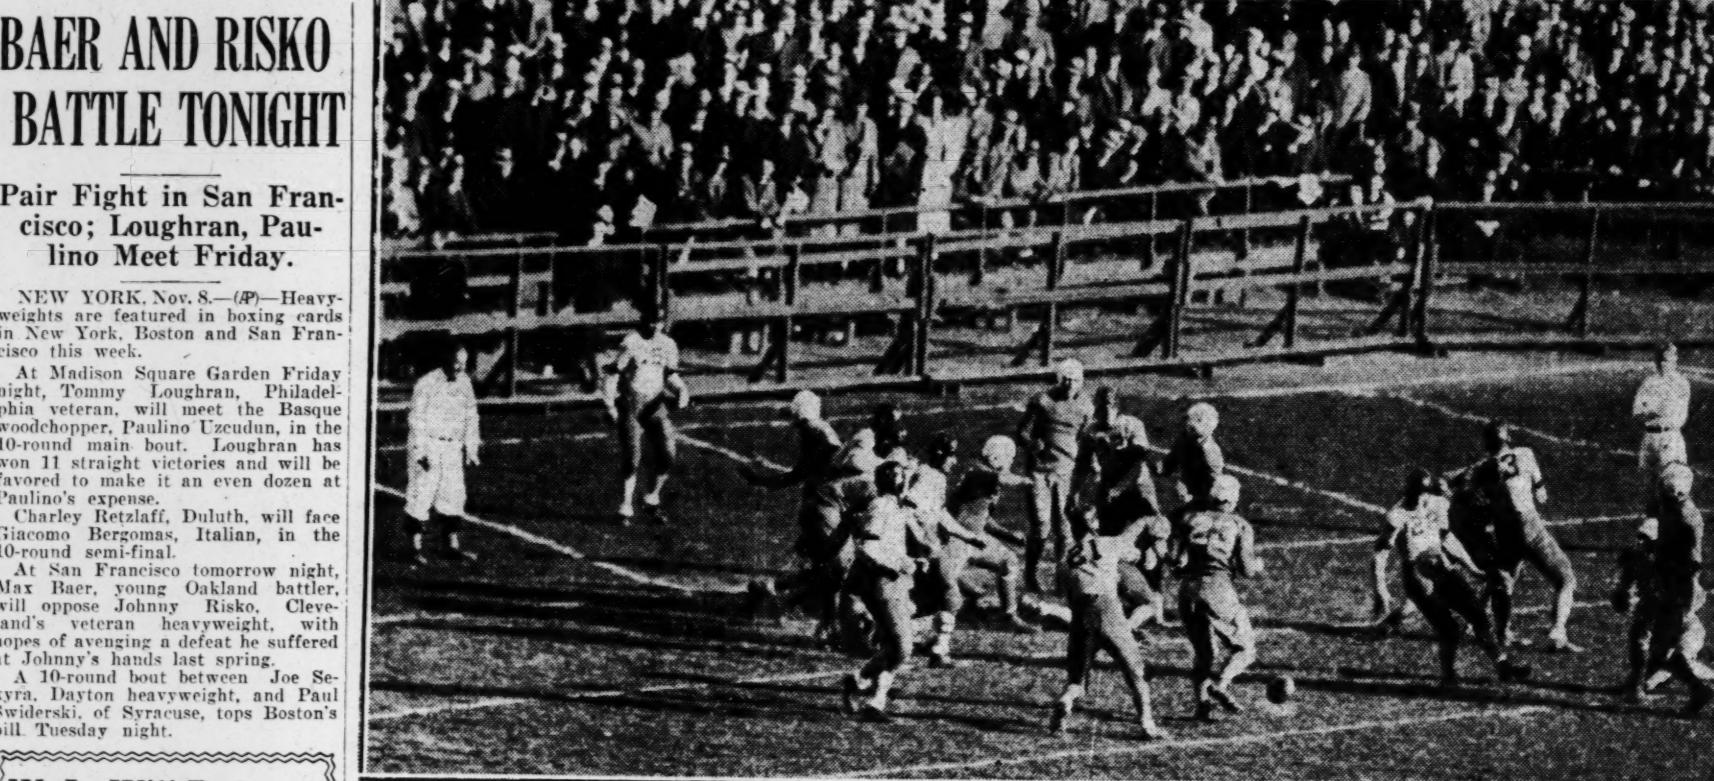

It's a great guess and one is as good as the other. And that means the stadium will be packed with persons curious to see if their hunch was right. New Orleans will send over a good portion of its population to root for Bierman's men, and how they will root!

The Tulane-Georgia game will be a match of two apparently irresistible offensives and the line play of the teams very likely will tell the story. Vandy has a chance against Tennessee because of an excellent line and a desire for victory over traditional foe that flares annually.

Other stand-out performances in the conference Saturday were Tech's magnificent comeback to the North Carolina, 19-19, in Atlanta; Duke's 7-0 win over Kentucky, and Alabama's stirring conquest of Florida, 41-0, which boosted the Tide's victories under chubby Frank Thomas to a total of seven.

Scenes of Action as Georgia Defeated New York University

BAER AND RISKO BATTLE TONIGHT

Pair Fight in San Francisco; Loughran, Paulino Meet Friday.

NEW YORK Nov. 8.—(P)—Heavyweights are featured in boxing cards in New York, Boston and San Francisco this week.

At Madison Square Garden Friday night, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia veteran, will meet the Basque woodchopper, Paulino Uzeden, in the 10-round main event. Loughran has 11 straight victories and will be favored to make it an even dozen at Paulino's expense.

Charles Retzlaff, Duluth, will face Giacomo Bergomas, Italian, in a 10-round semi-final.

At San Francisco tomorrow night, Max Baer, young Oakland battler, will oppose Johnny Risko, Cleveland's veteran. Both men are with hopes of avenging a defeat he suffered at Johnny's hands last spring.

A 10-round bout between Joe Seery, Dayton heavyweight, and Paul Swiderski, of Syracuse, tops Boston's bill Tuesday night.

W. L. Will-Box
Fay on Nov. 11

Pa Strikling, in a wire to the Constitution from Dallas last night, stated that he was still negotiating with Chicago and New York officials regarding early bouts for his son, but that nothing definite has been closed.

He indicated that he was not surprised at the bout to the bout with Walker, as he regarded the announcement as a bit premature.

W. L. will box Ralph Fay at Muskogee, Okla., November 11, and Pa is still contemplating bouts in Portland and Los Angeles. He has not given up the idea of the latter scrap, he said.

CHARITY GAME.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 8.—Guilford College today agreed to meet Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa., here November 24 in a post-season "charity" football game.

Fire Plug, Railroad Track PRISONERS BATTLE IN VAIN ON ODD FIELD Play Havoc With Attack

By Henry L. Supple.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 8.—(AP)—The football team of New Hampshire state prison, hampered by a fire hydrant, railroad track and frequent displays of generosity, went down to defeat today in their first football game of this or any season, on probably the oddest gridiron in the land. The score was Penacook Panthers 7, New Hampshire State Prison 6.

A grass-covered rectangular yard, 30 yards short of the regulation football field, furnished the scene of activity. The hydrant, a natural hazard, was surrounded, pyramid fashion, by sundry bales of shavings from the workshop. The railroad track ran along the east side line and the cell blocks banked the other. One goal post, made in the workshop, stood at the north end of the field. They only made one because a flagpole was in the way at the other end.

The hydrant spoiled line backs and off-tackle smashes. The railroad tracks ruined the prospects of end runs, and the cold weather and sharp winds played havoc with the overhead game. Otherwise conditions were ideal.

The prisoners' squad of 25, selected from the 183 inmates in this, one of the smallest state prisons in the United States, were equipped with small arms and shot by interested citizens. They supplied the jerseys themselves in the form of heavy underwear,

University of Georgia's fighting Bulldogs continued their undefeated march on the football battlefield Saturday afternoon when they whipped the Violets of New York University, 7-6. Buster Mott, Atlanta boy, raced 97 yards to score Georgia's only touchdown and "Catfish" Smith's educated toe converted the point—the margin of victory. Above are some action scenes of the game. At the left top, R. McNamara, Violet back, is shown being tackled by a Bulldog after a short gain. Spurgeon Chandler is pictured at the right lugging the football places for the Georgians. At the bottom is a picture of the blocked kick that saved a tie game. "Red" Maddox, of Georgia, blocked Tangay's try for the extra point and saved what would have been a tie. The ball can be seen on the ground. Associated Press photos.

HARVARD TEAM HAS CLOSE CALL

Crimson Leads Unbeaten and Untied Eastern Parade.

EN ROUTE HOME WITH GEORGIA FOOTBALL TEAM,

Nov. 8.—While that eminent doctor of journalism, Harry Jerome Mehre, was quite cast down about things and expressing the hope that his football club would be able to hold down the score against Tulane next Saturday there were others in a happier frame of mind.

In beating the New York University team by a 7-to-6 score Saturday, the Georgia Bulldogs beat the best team they have met all year. The Georgia linemen were one in declaring that the Violet line charged harder even than Vanderbilt's. And there is no doubt but that the backs ran harder.

The Bulldogs will go into this week's practice for Tulane still stoned to lose by the majority of people who get out on limbs in this business of predicting. And you know what sort of an animal gets out on limbs. For some reason the experts believe that the Bulldogs are through for the year, that they were staggering against N. Y. U. and won on a break, that long gallop by Buster Mott.

No one knows, of course, just what sort of shape the Bulldogs will be in for that Tulane struggle. If they are mentally jaded or physically frazzled, they cannot stop the Tulane attack.

Mr. Harry Jerome Mehre, Mr. Herman Jerome Stegemann and Mr. Rex Jerome Enright are very frankly puzzled about it. In fact one might as well make it unanimous. Mr. Ted Jerome Twomey is also puzzled. The N. Y. U. game took something out of the boys. It was quite a contest. The first half was probably the most consistently hard, driving football that the game has seen anywhere this fall. Rarely does a team start at the pace the New York Violets took. And even rarer is the sight of a team holding it for 60 minutes of football.

Georgia won, when one reviews the game, with few plays.

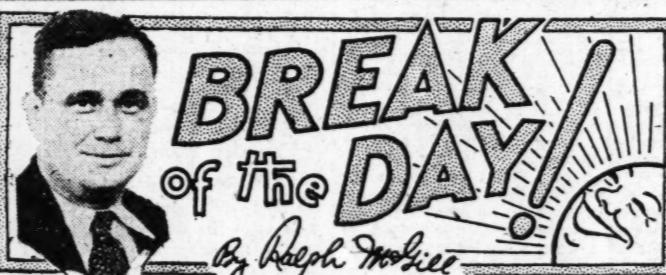

Continued on Second Sports Page.

Athletics Recall
7 Young Players

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Connie Mack said today he had called in players which he farmed out to the minors last spring and ordered them to report at the Fort Myers, Fla., training base of the Athletics next March.

One of the seven, Outfielder Lou Piniella, was around 500 in a few games he played with the Athletics toward the close of the summer. He spent most of the season at York in the New York-Pennsylvania league along with Eddie Cicchetti, Harrisburg; Merritt "Sugar" Cain, Harrisburg, and Sollie M. Carter, Williamsport. Cain and Carter are pitchers. Cicchetti is an infilder.

Continued on Second Sports Page.

KANSAS AGGIES SUFFER DEFEAT

Iowa State Does It and Enters Tie for Lead.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—(P)—Iowa State College swept the Kansas Aggies out of the undefeated class Saturday and put themselves into a tie with Nebraska for first place in the Big Six conference football race.

The margin of victory was delivered by the back kick of Captain the same star halfback who booted the deciding point in Iowa State's 13-12 victory over Oklahoma a week ago.

The Aggies finish their conference season in the game with Nebraska at Manhattan next Saturday. Nebraska meets Iowa State the following weekend in their conference finale.

Oklahoma got out of last place by winning from Kansas, the 1930 champion, 10 to 0, to Norman Saturday. The Sooners won their first conference meet, too. Bob Dillap's 47-yard dash for a touchown was the extra point by "Iron Mike" Massard and a place-kicked field goal from a difficult angle on the 33-yard line by Captain Guy Warren.

Nebraska defeated the University of Iowa, 7 to 0.

Top Flight Is Sent To Winter Stable

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—(P)—Top flight, the dark brown filly of Cornelius Vanderbilt, which won the Pimlico futurity yesterday to make racing history, today went into retirement, the greatest money winner of her sex and the greatest money winner of all 2-year-olds in history.

T. J. Healey, the trainer, said the filly would be sent back to winter quarters at Red Bank, N. J., until next year when she will run as a 3-year-old.

Continued on Second Sports Page.

GOTHAM SCRIBES COMMEND SMITH FOR GREAT WORK

Writers Are Unanimous in Opinion of Bulldog Team.

By Ralph McGill.

Constitution Sports Editor.
EN ROUTE TO ATLANTA WITH
GEORGIA FOOTBALL TEAM, Nov. 8.—Georgia's victory over N. Y. U. Saturday at the Yankee stadium received a tremendous amount of publicity in the metropolitan papers.

There were a number of excellent pictures on the game. The Georgia pictures were in the features spots. It was the game of the east Saturday.

Robert Kelly, in the New York Times, said of the game: "The intermission presented hard, crushing football for the most part, with both teams rising up to smear plays, but with great backs on both sides breaking loose to bring the throng to its feet."

"Smith's extra point meant the game, but not until it had been earned at least once more with a defensive stand on a very ring of defeat—a stand that took the ball away on Georgia's goal line in the final period."

HERALD TRIBUNE.

J. P. Abramson, in the Herald Tribune, wrote: "The one-point edge in a swift-moving football drama was the work of the irrepressible Catfish Smith, the Georgia end who is another to the north. The great Catfish, cool and unbeatable in the pinch, won the game with his kick and then saved it in the fourth with a tackle that stopped the Violets one foot from the goal line on a fourth-down plunge."

"Apparently the large thousands and thousands of southerners on hand," continued Abramson, "cheered the Georgians and when the final whistle blew swarmed on the field to take down the goal posts and whoop things up for half an hour."

Lewis Burton, in the American, wrote: "Down a lane cut wide by the team's entrance, a sharp, leveling stroke of a switch, Buster Mott raced 97 yards in a victory dash for Georgia at the Yankee stadium. In that single, perfect play, which left 63,000 spectators momentarily stunned, the University of Georgia fashioned a 7-to-6 triumph over New York University and remained gloomily the thinning circle of undefeated teams."

SMITH PRAISED.

Paul Gallico, in the Evening News, praised the play of Smith and the Georgians. One of the football reporters in New York amused the Georgia boys by writing "Little Red Maddox." Maddox, though about 130 pounds and a husky boy, was thought like a bullet to block Tangay's try for a point after touchdown. He is not little by any stretch of imagination. Pictures of the game were used in profusion and many of the boys ran Catfish Smith's picture again.

BOTH TEAMS PUSHED ASIDE COMPETITORS Saturday. Southern Methodist takes two points and a 7-to-6 tie with Texas A. & M. with an 8-to-4 decision. Texas Christian erased Rice from consideration with a 7-to-6 victory.

ALL OTHER TEAMS IN THE CONFERENCE HAVE BEEN DEFEATED AT LEAST TWICE IN LOOP PLAY. SOUTHERN METHODIST HAS WON FOUR GAMES AND LOST NONE. TEXAS CHRISTIAN HAS BEEN VICTORIOUS IN THREE STRAIGHT GAMES.

NEXT SATURDAY AT DALLAS, SOUTHERN METHODIST TAKES ON BAYLOR, A TEAM THAT LAST, 0 TO 25, TO THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS SATURDAY. THE METHODISTS DO NOT EXPECT MUCH TROUBLE. THEY HAVE WON SEVEN STRAIGHT GAMES AND ARE ONE OF THE FEW MAJOR UNDEFEATED TEAMS OF THE NATION.

A 62-yard run by Blanard Sparrow and an accurate place-kick by Captain Carlos Green gave Texas Christian a victory over Rice at Fort Worth, 7 to 6.

St. Mary's Loses

To Olympic Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—

(P)—St. Mary's brilliant gridiron record was shattered today when the Gaels suffered their first defeat of the season, a 10-to-6, by the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

APPROXIMATELY 22,000 PERSONS SAW THE TEAM THAT DEFEATED SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, CALIFORNIA AND FOUR OTHER ELEVENTHS THIS SEASON GO DOWN FIGHTING BEFORE A POWERFUL SQUAD OF FORMER COLLEGE PLAYERS WHO RODE TO THEIR GRAND HEIGHTS.

IT WAS THE FIRST DEFEAT FOR COACH ED MADIGAN SINCE A YEAR AGO LAST SEPTEMBER WHEN HE LOST TO CALIFORNIA.

HAPPY HEARTS DRAW.

PORT BENNING, Ga., Nov. 8.—

THE HAPPY HEARTS OF THE TWENTY-FOURTH INFANTRY, PORT BENNING, AND THE PANTHERS OF CHATTANOOGA, TENN., PLAYED A SCORELESS TIE HERE THIS AFTERNOON.

BULLDOGS HOLD SANDLOT LEAD

THE BUCKHEAD BULLDOGS DEFEATED THE SKULL BULLDOGS, 6 TO 0, SATURDAY MORNING TO RETAIN LEADERSHIP OF THE SANDLOTS. THE BULLDOGS WERE BY FAR THE BEST GAME OF THE SATURDAY CARD.

THE TOUCHDOWN CAME IN THE LAST TWO MINUTES OF PLAY, FOLLOWING A 45-YARD MARCH DOWN THE FIELD. EAVES CARRIED THE BALL ACROSS FOR THE 6 POINTS.

IN ANOTHER INTERESTING MATCH, THE MONTGOMERY BULLDOGS, 13 TO 6, IT WAS A LAST-QUARTER DRIVE THAT PAID THE WAY FOR VICTORY.

CAPITAL VIEW TERRORS DEFEATED O'KEEFE GREENIES, 25 TO 6, IN A GAME FEATURED BY MANY LONG RUNS BY THE WINNERS.

IN THE 120-POINT LEAGUE THE BUCKHEAD BULL PUPS DEFEATED THE HOWELL PARK WOLVES, 21 TO 0, JONES, FOR THE BULL PUPS, INTERCEPTED A PASS AND RAN 45 YARDS TO

Three Southern Elevens Are Among Nation's Unbeaten Teams

DIXIE ELEVENS RETAIN PLACES IN TOP FLIGHT

Notre Dame, Harvard and Northwestern Also Among Unbeaten.

By Herbert W. Barker,

Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Strutting out boldly in the national football pack today were two teams from the midwest, three from the south, three from the east and one each from the southwest and far west.

There will be few, if any, dissenters to the top-flight ranking of Notre Dame and Northwestern; Tulane, Georgia, and Harvard; Yale, Harvard, Cornell and Syracuse; Southern Methodist and St. Mary's, of Oakland, Calif. All of these teams are unbeaten, although Notre Dame and Northwestern fought to a scoreless tie earlier in the season.

Notre Dame gave a convincing demonstration of power yesterday in romping through Penn State's unbeaten arm, 40-0. Northwestern, after trailing at 14-0 at one stage, came back with a rush to tumble Minnesota, 32-14, and virtually clinch the Big Ten championship.

GEORGIA INVASION.

Georgia invaded the east for the second time and nosed out New York University, 7-6, on Buster Mott's 97-yard run in the third period and a successful try for point by "Catfish" Smith. Tulane, which had eleven under a 27-0 count, while Tennessee, third of the undefeated Southern conference teams, laced Carson-Newman, 31-0.

Buddy Wood's pass to Hageman with four minutes to play to his winning drop-kick for extra point gave Harvard a 7-0 triumph over Dartmouth, Cornell and Syracuse; however, smacked down minor rivals easily, the former trouncing Alfred, 54-0, and the latter, overwhelming Western Reserve, 33-0.

Southern Methodist, aiming at a Southern conference title, beat Texas A. & M., 8-0. St. Mary's, playing a Sunday schedule in the main, already has counted six victories with Southern California and California among the victims.

EXCEPTIONAL.

Georgia's triumph over N. Y. U. was the first in a general race of eastern victory in sectional combat yesterday. Fordham, another of the east's best, walloped Detroit, 39-9; Army turned back a stubborn Louisiana State outfit, 20-0.

Columbia whitewashed Virginia, 27-0, and Brown defeated Ohio University, 22-0. Michigan upset Princeton, 10-7, in one midwest upset among eastern sectionals games.

With Northwestern practically assured of the title, other Big Ten elevens will have to content themselves with a race for second place. Michigan had an upper conference win at Indiana, 22-0, and Wisconsin turned back Illinois, 7-6. Iowa went outside the conference to take a 7-0 beating from Nebraska. Of the intersectional games, Ohio State's victory over Navy, 20-0, was expected. Purdue whipped Centenary, 49-6, and Indiana beat Arkansas, 13-13.

KANSAS AGGRESSIVE.

Iowa State, the surprise of the Big Six, handed the Aggies their first defeat, 7-6. Oklahoma added to Kansas' woes with a 10-0 triumph.

Keeping pace with Southern Methodist in the Southwest conference was Texas Christian, which eked out a 7-6 win over Rice. Texas walloped Baylor, 25-0.

In the far west, Southern California virtually clinched the Pacific Coast conference title by trouncing Stanford, 19-0. California, improving as the season grows older, beat Washington, 13-0.

UCLA continued its march through the Rocky Mountain conference, taking Colorado College over the jumps, 28-6, but their chief rivals, the Utah Aggies, bowed to Brigham Young, 6-0.

From a national viewpoint, perhaps the biggest game of the coming week-end will pit Georgia against Tulane at Athens, Ga., a contest that may decide the Southern conference title.

FREE TO VISITORS.

When Baylor played the Texas Aggies, the folks at College Station, Texas, served a free lunch to all the visitors from the rival school.

COMFORT! Speed

Birmingham 1 Hr.

Fare $9.85

Dallas 7 Hrs.

Fare $52.70

San Antonio 10 1/2 Hrs.

Fare $69.70

Plane leaves Candler Field

8:35 A. M. Daily

Nashville 2 Hrs.

Fare $14.70

Cincinnati 6 1/2 Hrs.

Fare $32.90

Cleveland 9 1/2 Hrs.

Fare $48.45

Plane leaves Candler Field

1:15 P. M. Daily

Planes stop at intermediate airports—Atlanta-Los Angeles and Atlanta-Cleveland

10% reduction on round trip tickets

AMERICAN AIRWAYS

Reservations and complete information at leading hotels, travel agencies, Postal Telegraph or post offices.

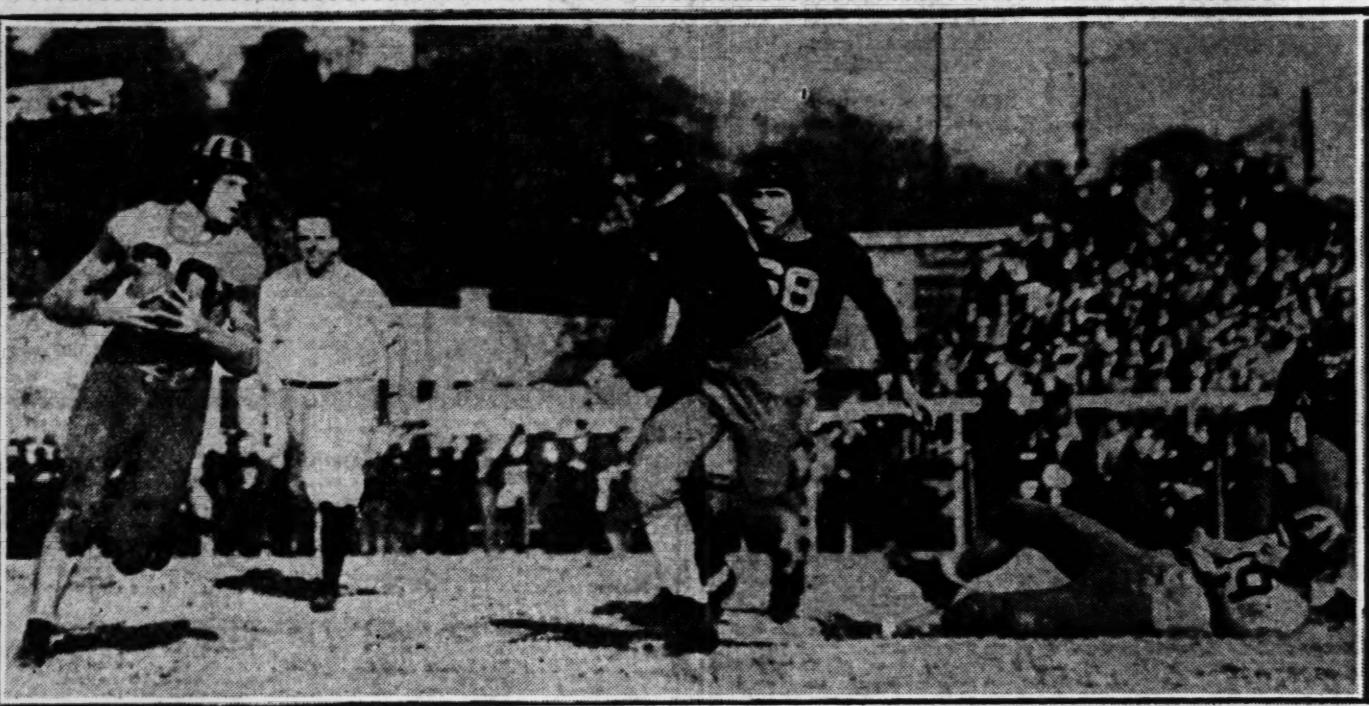

Airline Ticket Office

Anseley Hotel Lobby

W.A. 8049

Like Old Man River---Wave Keeps Rolling Along

Associated Press photo

Like Old Man River, the Green Wave of Tulane keeps rolling along—toward another undefeated season. Saturday the Wave dashed Auburn's Tigers on the rock and left them under a 27-0 defeat at Montgomery. Lemmon, one of the many waves, is shown above as he got away on one of the many long gains against the Tigers. Tulane will face the University of Georgia's undefeated Bulldogs next Saturday at Athens in a game which should settle the conference title.

By Lieutenant Rice

The Winning Marchers.

While there is still a flock of undefeated platoons marching steadily forward, no other team has been able so far to show the same consistent might and power that Notre Dame carries to the field. When you figure the Notre Dame team, you would be set up for anybody you get part of the answer. And just who is going to stop all three South Bend legions is a problem that Howard Johnson and Ralph Sasse are pondering day by day.

The list of unbeaten teams is much longer than usual at this time of year. Notre Dame, Northwestern, Harvard, Tulane, Georgia, Tennessee, and St. Mary's, Southern Methodist, Fordham and one or two others are still bounding triumphantly along the highway, but some of them will have to make a week of trouble next Saturday when Georgia meets Tulane. Tennessee faces Vanderbilt, Harvard bumps into Holy Cross, and Fordham moves against New York University.

There will be more than enough fight to test most of these teams, especially the ones that made important Saturday's of the year. Affairs now stand Northwestern and St. Mary's are just about past the gauntlet with nothing much to bother about.

Georgia's Victory.

Georgia won a battle from New York University that was a real triumph in the midst of a long, hard schedule. It is the type of game that N. Y. U. might have won three times out of four, as it was played in the way of passing and rushing.

N. Y. U. was due for a big effort and Georgia had come to the aid of a slow-moving spell after four hard games in a row. All N. Y. U. needed was a little more goal line deception in its attack, but here again the second guess is the surer, softer, and simpler one.

Georgia must be given credit for its game stand in the shadow of almost certain defeat and N. Y. U. can at least look back on three consecutive charges after Buster Mott's 97-yard run, which was like a dagger driven through the heart.

Many of these kickoff runs for touchdowns show how much the blocking has improved on the part of play, and the running is getting through the V-point of a Y. If you can assemble that picture after looking at the two letters, and once in the clear he had too much speed to be handled.

Part of the Georgia line was outplayed and this is where most of the scoring is done. The Violets outscored the defense and the offense had to have the southerners turn their one minute into victory. Bill Abeel, Bob McNamara and Vavra and Hugget, ends, were outstanding for the ball, yet he dropped back with all the nonchalance of a Rockefeller handing a dime to a beggar, and kicked it a mile-a-minute through the middle. This was nothing lucky about his getting squarely in Abeel's path. He simply scrambled his way through the mob, and when he didn't make it was Catfish who led the assault on Yale a few weeks back, and it was Catfish who, more than anyone else, enabled Georgia to whip N. Y. U. in the Yankee stadium Saturday, and thus keep in the running for national championship.

Of course, Catfish did not single-handedly win N. Y. U. He was given noble support by all his mates, especially by Buster Mott, the high-striding, shifty halfback who ran back a kickoff 90 yards for Georgia's only touchdown. But it was Catfish's unerring toe that booted home the extra point that won the game. And it was Catfish who stopped Bill Abeel in his tracks when Bill had but half a yard to go for a touchdown and a N. Y. U. victory.

Southern football experts had told the writer before the game that Smith was really undeserving of all the high praise that had been given him, and that he was only an ordinary end, and that only his knack for making at least one spectacular play a game kept him in the limelight.

NO FLUKE KICK.

There was nothing lucky about that extra point he kicked. He must have known the game was riding on the ball, yet he dropped back with all the nonchalance of a Rockefeller handing a dime to a beggar, and kicked it a mile-a-minute through the middle. This was nothing lucky about his getting squarely in Abeel's path. He simply scrambled his way through the mob, and when he didn't make it was Catfish who led the assault on Yale a few weeks back, and it was Catfish who, more than anyone else, enabled Georgia to whip N. Y. U. in the Yankee stadium Saturday, and thus keep in the running for national championship.

Of course, Catfish did not single-handedly win N. Y. U. He was given noble support by all his mates, especially by Buster Mott, the high-striding, shifty halfback who ran back a kickoff 90 yards for Georgia's only touchdown. But it was Catfish's unerring toe that booted home the extra point that won the game. And it was Catfish who stopped Bill Abeel in his tracks when Bill had but half a yard to go for a touchdown and a N. Y. U. victory.

Southern football experts had told the writer before the game that Smith was really undeserving of all the high praise that had been given him, and that he was only an ordinary end, and that only his knack for making at least one spectacular play a game kept him in the limelight.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 8.—(F7)

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 8.—(F7) Southern association club owners will meet here tomorrow for their annual business powwow and lay plans for the 1932 baseball season which will include a decision as to what is to be done about the Mobile-Knoxville rivalry.

The latter item of business is expected to carry the meeting through Tuesday. John D. Martin, league president, said tonight the question will be last in the order of business.

Mr. Martin said he would recommend to the league directorate that the matter be settled finally at the current meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has made every effort to protect the stockholders, both majority and minority, of the Mobile franchise," Mr. Martin said. "We continue to do so but I will recommend to the league that the matter be settled during the meeting.

"The league has

BREAK of the DAY

Continued from First Sports Page.

The figures are not at hand but Georgia did not run the ends more than three or four times. The ends were protected by the wing backs coming in fast to back up the ends who were not always in there. An end attack probably would have scored.

Georgia could have scored with passes in the last half had they chosen to throw them while the New York defense was pulled in as close as it was. In bottling up Homer Key and Mott in their off-tackle plays the Violets left their pass defenses in a weakened condition.

Georgia won a football game without using more than four end runs and without throwing more than four passes. The Georgians did not make a real march with the ball. Yet they had four scoring chances.

The Bulldogs did not once accumulate as many as two first down in a row.

Yet they won the ball game. Mott's great run for 97 of the 100 yards, the one perfect play of the game, and Catfish Smith's goal, were largely responsible. The Bulldogs played a sort of passive game after that. The burden was not on them.

They took a terrific pounding from the keyed-up and powerful New York team. Just how much was taken out of them remains to be seen. One won't know until they get going on Sanford field Saturday.

DOWNES' MAGNIFICENT PLAY.

Austie Downes, who attracted national attention by his smart defensive work in the Yale-Georgia game, came through Saturday with three other outstanding plays which stamped him as a positive genius. Twice he saved the goal line with well-played tackles, and in the last minutes of the final quarter Downes went up high to grab a pass and give Georgia the ball. This prevented the continuance of the wild and desperate pass attack which might have clicked at any moment.

There is probably no quarter in the United States this year who is directing a football team with the mental agility that Downes is giving to his team. And certainly no quarter is playing the defensive game he is.

It is almost like having a coach on the field to have Downes out there and it would not be surprising to find him with a good coaching job once he completes his education at Georgia.

THE ONE AND ONLY.

Catfish Smith, who had the greatest ballyhoo any player has had in the New York press this season, added glamor to his name by his performance.

It is really remarkable what a hold the tall Georgian end has on the football public. Coming back on the train today there were a number of passengers who discovered that the Georgia team was aboard. There were at least a dozen requests to be presented to Catfish Smith.

Grantland Rice said that Smith was the best end he had seen this season. The tall Georgian managed to be in there when he was needed most. There is a story told of his first baseball game. He was a poor infielder and a poorer outfielder. He sat on the bench during a ball game. It was tied in the tenth with two out. Smith went in as a pinch hitter and hit a homer. He always does.

BOBBY JONES CONGRATULATES TEAM.

Bobby Jones, who was in New York on business and attended the game, returned on the train with the Georgia players. Bobby came into the car during the return and congratulated the Georgia players individually.

"I thought it was a great game," he said. "I cheered until I was hoarse and stood up most of the time."

RIGHT ON THE NOGGIN.

Two New York toughs were hanging around the dressing room exit waiting for the Georgia team to emerge. They said they wanted to take a punch at one or two of the boys.

"Move over out of the way there," said one of those great New York cops.

"Make us," said the toughs.

"I will," said the copper, and he popped both of them on the noggin and let them lay until the wagon arrived.

SCALPERS BUSY.

Scalpers, when they found that the heat was on for the Georgia game, hurried out and bought up a few hundred tickets. They were sold for as high as $15 and $20 each.

Georgia is a great attraction in New York. The name is made. The answer to any questioning of that statement is found in the two crowds that have watched Georgia play two games in the east—150,000. The Georgia crowds in the bowl at New Haven and at the Yankee stadium will stand as two of the greatest crowds of the year.

Georgia and New York played to their great crowd of Saturday with two other games running in opposition in New York.

THAT GOAL POST BATTLE.

Riding with the team on the return today are several pieces of the goal posts which the enthusiastic Georgians tore down after the game. The scene was a thrilling one, and several thousand people remained to watch it.

Dr. S. V. Sanford saw a young student struggling along the street outside the stadium with a piece of the posts longer than he.

The doctor had the tax driver stop and took the student and his prize into the car. They all rode in state to the hotel.

A RARE PENALTY.

Chick Meehan caused the Violets to be penalized Saturday for coaching from the sidelines. It was not an effort to take advantage. Right after the Violets had scored the team started to pass. Meehan, knowing Georgia might intercept, yelled "Don't pass! Don't pass!" and Buck Flowers, who was standing near, had to call it. It is a rare penalty.

KEY LOOKS GOOD.

Homer Key, while he made no long runs Saturday, played perhaps his best offensive game. He looked great on short drives in the line. He showed a lot of power and drive. This pleased coaches. The real back must be able to take that hard drive in the line as well as slit in a broken field. Key showed them. They had his special play blocked but he hit the line for several short gains. And when a boy weighing 149 can do that he is a ball player.

Women Will Sell Poppies Wednesday To Help Veterans

The flaming red symbol of the flower of Flanders will bloom anew in lapels all over the world Wednesday when Armistice Day is celebrated, and the artificial poppy will be in memory of those who gave their lives for freedom. Here in Atlanta the American Legion Auxiliary will endeavor to see that everyone does not forget the price paid by those who fought for democracy.

In addition to the sentiment expressed by the members of the Flanders poppy chapter, we the real imitation flower Wednesday will be contributing patriotically to the welfare of disabled veterans of the once invincible American Expeditionary Forces, and to the dependents of those who fought for America.

Consequently a Georgia woman as the symbol of remembrance to the soldiers dead, the Flanders poppy now is worn in virtually every country on Armistice Day as a tribute to the soldiers of 1914-1918. Miss Moina Michael,

Key to Small Fortune Tucked Away in Minds of Contestants

Entrants in Old Sayings Game Will Soon Share $2,300 in Cash Prizes.

By the Proverb Contest Editor.
Jack, the key of your mind is a key to a generous amount of cash. The lock is The Constitution's old sayings contest. The gesture of inserting the key is finding the appropriate proverbs for the series of 80 pictures.

The proverb is really nothing difficult about The Constitution's old sayings game. As a matter of fact, it is comparatively easy, and the rules are as liberal as can reasonably be made.

It was Benjamin Franklin who said "Employ thy time well, and since thou art not able to live long, shorten not thy life." Participants will do well to heed this counsel. As the contest nears the end, readers who are taking part should redouble their efforts to discover the most appropriate proverbs for the pictures. Time devoted to seeking correct solutions will be time pleasantly and profitably invested.

Readers who decide to submit several sets of pictures and solutions will find all the back pictures available at The Constitution—or, they may be ordered.

If at first glance the answer for today's proverb picture cannot be recalled, an even casual reading of the book, "Proverbs of All Ages," should result in its discovery.

Questions and Answers

Who's Worried?

Question: "I notice through The Constitution that you are worried because the proverb pictures are too easy. No. 49 is too hard for me. Please give me a tip." Mrs. J. R. S.

Answer: "The proverb pictures worry the P. E. not a bit. Hints and tips are taken."

A Requirement.

Question: "Is it required of contestants that they write their names and addresses on every proverb picture? R. C."

Answer: Yes.

A You Wish.

Question: "I notice through The Constitution that you are worried because the proverb pictures are too easy. No. 49 is too hard for me. Please give me a tip." Mrs. J. R. S.

Answer: "The proverb pictures worry the P. E. not a bit. Hints and tips are taken."

Separate Compilations.

Question: "I am getting lots of fun as a result of your column on the proverb pictures. Are all of the proverbs that are in the 2,000 list also found in 'Proverbs of All Ages'?" Mrs. T. C. F. Chipley, Ga.

Answer: Not all of the proverbs contained in the list of 2,000 proverbs are included in "Proverbs of All Ages."

Here He Is.

Question: "We simply must know what you look like, Mr. Proverb Editor. Please—pretty please, publish your picture." Mrs. K. C. E.

Answer (To Mrs. C. E. and Other Friends): When you chide the old P. E. under the chin with "pretty please," he finally succumbed to much wheedling and decided to nominate John Gillette, and others whose photographs are in demand. He had a faded tintype, proudly posed for when a bashful swain of 21. But it shows him equipped with plug hat, handlebar mustache and other necessities of secretary. Miss Alter induced the modern P. E. to sit for an up-to-date pen-portrait which is reproduced here. Now be good, and get back to your proverbs.

PROVERB EDITOR

Feeling that the people who are so generously supporting the Penny Club are interested in the many interesting things that are happening daily at the Penny Club, we are starting the column so that we might tell you about the work your pennies are doing.

At the beginning the Penny Club grew so fast that Mrs. Glenn had to add to her organization almost immediately. Mrs. Glenn offered her services the very first day and was immediately put to work as Mrs. Glenn's assistant. The following is a list of the Atlanta women who so generously offered their services to the Penny Club in order that your pennies might go to make jobs for Atlanta's unemployed without one cent being spent for overhead.

Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn, chairman; Mrs. James L. Dickey, first vice chairman; Mrs. Omar Elder, second vice chairman; Mrs. J. J. Goodrum, treasurer; Mrs. Grady Black, secretary; Mrs. Mary Kiser, and Mrs. Charles A. Conklin, assistant secretaries; Mrs. Charles A. Conklin, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Thornton Fincher, speakers' bureau.

Chairmen of committees for collection boxes: Mrs. Le Roy Childs, Mrs. Richard Schwab, Mrs. John W. Grant Jr., Mrs. William McKenzie, Mrs. Percy Adams, Mrs. F. W. Bishop, Mrs. Richard Sedell, Mrs. Gabriele Schoen, Mrs. Arthur Howell, Mrs. Julian Hirschberg, Mrs. Ben Dowling, Mrs. Rayburn Clay, Mrs. Norris Broyles, Mrs. Harold Rogers, Mrs. Robert Martin.

Working on these various committees are the following: Mrs. Albert Howell Jr., Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. Roland Rainey, Mrs. Marshall Estep, Mrs. A. S. Bird, Mrs. John O. Chiles, Mrs. Dudley Cowles, Mrs. Evelyn Harris, Mrs. Felix Rapp, Mrs. N. N. Murphy, Mrs. J. H. Phillips, Miss Mary Goddard, Miss Eleanor Johnson, Miss Lilly Welborne, Mrs. Arthur Hazard, Mrs. Carling Kinney, Miss Estelle, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Louis Hirsch, Mrs. Robert Schwab, Mrs. Lillian, Mrs. Charles Heyman, Mrs. Forrest Adair, Mrs. Henry Hirsch, Mrs. John Candler, Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Mrs. Nellie Emery, Mrs. John Herfeld, Mrs. N. D. Malcolm, Mrs. Willis Poole, Mrs. T. W. Dunn, Mrs. Mrs. F. Hume Jr., Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Mrs. W. J. Williams, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Thornton Martin, Mrs. Robert Alston, Mrs. Walter Welbourne, Mrs. Eugene Black Jr., Mrs. B. F. Ulmer, Mrs. J. N. Goddard, Miss Katherine Spitz, Miss Nan Phillips, Miss Isabel Johnston, Mrs. Dunn, Miss Rosalie Mayer, Miss Katherine Hirschberg, Mrs. M. A. Ferst, Mrs. Max Lowenstein, Mrs. Alice Ferst, Mrs. Oscar Strangs Jr., Mrs. John T. Clarke, Mrs. Harry Cannon, Mrs. Eugene Oberdoerfer Jr., Mrs. Upchurch, Mrs. L. F. Martin, Mrs. Chester Martin, Miss Mabel Schropshire.

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the day.

Fairer and Warmer, Forecast for Today

Today will be just a little bit fairer and just a little bit warmer. At least so the forecaster says. The clouds which cast their shadow over Atlanta most of Sunday will not be quite so persistent in their refusal to let the sun shine today, and the thermometer will rise accordingly. A temperature range of from 53 to 63 is expected for the

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds To Observe Their Wedding Anniversary Today

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds plan to quietly observe their wedding anniversary today at their home on Tenth street, surrounded by their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Bryan; their son, William Patterson Reynolds, and their mother, Mrs. W. H. Patterson. They were married 23 years ago today in the First Methodist church, which occupied the site of the Candler building. Mrs. Reynolds was formerly Miss Eva Patterson, daughter of Mrs. Patterson, and the late W. H. Patterson, who were pillars in the First Methodist church, and were highly esteemed pioneers of Atlanta, who were leaders every man to place this city in the foremost ranks of southern cities. They were prominently identified with its early history and upbuilding, and were

Y.W.C.A. Plans Luncheon in Connection With Observance of Week of Prayer

The outstanding event of the week of prayer, which is observed by Y. W. C. A.'s all over the world from November 8 to 15, will be the luncheon given Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock at 37 Auburn avenue by the world fellowship committee of the local Y. W. C. A. Dean Raimundo de Ovies, of St. Philip's cathedral, will deliver a forceful message pertinent to world problems. The world fellowship committee of the Y. W. C. A. studies foreign questions, and the associations invite the members to contribute them to local associations. Through the medium of this committee the Y. W. C. A. plays a leading role in the fight for world peace and fosters sympathetic friendly feeling between nations. Working on the basis that each association, whether in faraway Japan, Turkey or America, faces the same difficulties and planning similar programs, the Y. W. C. A. develops a keen feeling of neighborliness and realization of the nearness of sister associations.

Mrs. Theodore Jack is chairman of the world fellowship committee, working with her are 15 women studying interesting facts about the countries assigned to them. The committee holds luncheons and teas and plans programs for various organizations, which will portray the work of the Y. W. C. A. in foreign countries. All members of the Y. W. C. A. are invited to attend the luncheons, which is 50 cents per plate. Reservations may be made until Monday at noon, by telephoning Walnut 8961. A number of foreign residents of Atlanta will be guests of honor on this occasion.

During the week of prayer the Y. W. C. A. will have time to make a study and discussion of world affairs, stressing the value of "friendships far and near," which is the slogan of the world fellowship committee. Following the theme for weekly staff meetings, "Christ's Way of Dealing With People," the regular Tuesday morning staff meeting will be turned over to discussion of "Christ's Way of Dealing With International Problems." Miss Flora Hatchet and Miss North Avenue P.T.A. Meets Tuesday.

North Avenue Presbyterian School P.T.A. meets Tuesday, November 10, at 3 o'clock in Inman hall, at the school. The program will be given by the junior and the senior high school girls. The junior high will dramatize the story of the Red Cross flag. William Egan will represent the boy who doesn't know the meaning of the flag. Nettie Grier will be the speaker of the Red Cross. The committee will be represented by Louise Powell, Mary Ella Rodgers, Bettie Hatchet, Barbara MacGaughey, and Virginia Woods. A chorus from the seventh and eighth grades will sing the Red Cross song.

The "Marriage Shop," a playlet presented in the high school during health week, will be given again at this meeting. It deals with the various factors to be considered in choosing a husband or wife. The cast consists of the following: St. John Barnwell, the storekeeper; Peggy Ulrich, girl in search of a husband; Margaret Colbert, boy in search of a wife. The female models are: Jane Tharin, Marion Baughn, Eloise Alexander. The male models are: Beverly Peebles, Mary Cary Maynard and Frances Maynard.

The mothers will be presented with a copy of the "Snappy News from Naps," the junior high newspaper. This is the first edition of the newspaper for this year and was issued by the staff, headed by Gladys Irene Cook and Marion Walker, with the assistance of their faculty adviser, Miss Berta Smith.

Mrs. De Garis Named Poppy Day Chairman.

Mrs. Irving DeGaris, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, in Decatur, has appointed Mrs. Joe Elder, chairman for Poppy Day, Wednesday, November 11. Mrs. Elder will be assisted by Mesdames Scott Candler, Forrest Hill, Roy Jones, W. S. Elkin Jr., R. C. Henderson, Terah Stewart, Clifford Anderson, Holland Reagan, Murphy Candler Jr., Howard Franklin, Frank Thomas, J. H. Allison, Fred Williams, Harry M. Ward Sanders, Warner Moore, Alton Coster, Dan White, Sasnett Gardner, M. S. Rosing, Myrick Clements, Arch Wall, Robert Davis, Marshall George, L. L. Simpson, W. F. Tabor, T. W. Mullins, Irving DeGaris, S. L. Threadgill, D. W. Leary, J. F. Hammond, Misses Marion Weeks, Mary Anderson, Pauline Rhodes, who acted as chairman for Stone Mountain and Mesdames Norton Davison and J. R. McConnell, chairman at Lithonia.

WOMEN DON'T DREAD IT

They go about their regular work as usual.

Before the invention of Angostura, over 100 years ago by an eminent physician, women used to dread the extreme discomfort which faced them every month. But this safe and harmless compound now gives positive relief from these cruel, gripping pains.

Whenever the pain becomes acute, they take two to four teaspoons of Angostura, in an equal quantity of sweetened hot water. It positively contains no harmful ingredients. The effect is immediate and satisfying. Twitching nerves are soothed, the feeling of "pressure" is relieved, the stomach gets a sense of warmth and comfort, spirits brighten, and life is, indeed, worth while again. It does not fail.

This old-time medicine which contains absolutely nothing bad for the heart. Doctors everywhere prescribe it. Carry a small bottle to your work prepared half and half with sweetened water, and take whenever the pain is bad. ANGOSTURA can be found at all drug stores. Ask for the popular size, $5 cent bottle.

Noted Georgian Will Be Honored

Alfred H. Colquitt Chapter, U. D. C., at its November meeting held at the Henry Grady hotel, adopted a resolution to place a bust of the distinguished Georgian, the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt, in the state capitol. Mrs. O. Q. Mana was named chairman of the committee to raise funds for the statue and the committee includes Mesdames Sallie Belle Edwards, J. T. Alexander, J. O. Haynes and J. T. Harden. Mrs. Preston Arkwright, daughter of the late Senator Colquitt, made the first contribution.

The chapter voted to have a bazaar to raise money. Mrs. V. H. Hanson was placed in charge of the arrangements for the bazaar and the following ladies were named to assist her: Mesdames Durant Smith, J. T. Harden, O. F. Taylor, J. T. Moon, Sallie Bell Edwards, Thomas Turner and C. S. Smith.

Mrs. Harry Brown, historian, presented the chapter with a scrap book given by Mrs. Preston Arkwright. On account of illness in the family of the beloved and efficient president, Mrs. Josephine Camp, a few months leave of absence was granted to her, and Mrs. V. H. Hanson, vice president, will provide in her place.

Mesdames F. Hanson and C. A. Smith were elected delegates to the general convention to be held in Jacksonville next week.

WOMEN'S MEETINGS

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9.

The 36th anniversary of the founding of the Atlanta Woman's Club will be celebrated this afternoon at the clubhouse on Peachtree street, with Mrs. Alonso Richardson in charge of the ceremony.

Young Girls' circle of Tallulah Falls school meets this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss Frances Spalding on Rivers road.

Woman's board of the Henrietta Egleston hospital meets this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Nurses' home at the hospital.

Capitol Avenue Baptist W. M. S. circles meet as follows: Young Matrons' circle, Mrs. J. W. Ligon, chairman, meets at 10:30 o'clock at the church; all other circles meet at 3 o'clock at the church.

Board of Andrew and Frances Stewart good-will center meets at 10:30 o'clock.

Y. W. A. of Capitol Avenue Baptist church meets this evening at 6 o'clock at the church.

Circle No. 6 of the Grant Park Baptist W. M. S. will be in charge of the missionary program at the meeting this afternoon.

Boulevard Park Woman's Club meets at 3 o'clock at the S. M. Inman schoolhouse.

Circle No. 1, of Morningside Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary meets at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. G. Jordan, 1344 Wayne avenue.

El Circulo Espanol meets at 8 o'clock this evening at the home of Miss Sara James, 1717 Pelham road.

Executive board meeting of the women's council of the Peachtree Christian church meets at 2:30 o'clock.

Fulton Chapter No. 181, O. E. S., meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic temple in East Point.

St. Cecilia chapter of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church meets at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Philip Alston, 236 The Prado.

Chapter of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, of which Mrs. Willis Callaway is chairman, meets this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Shepard Bryan, 2702 Peachtree road.

Capital City Chapter No. 111, O. E. S., meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the fraternity hall at 423-1-2 Marietta street.

Progressive Grove No. 361, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the convention hall of the Henry Grady hotel. Rosebud Junior Circle will meet at 7 o'clock at the same place.

Bhakti Court No. 25, Ladies' Oriental Shrine of North America, meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Elks home, 736 Peachtree street, N. E.

Joseph E. Brown P.T.A. meets this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Business Women's chapter of All Saints' church meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parish house.

Atlanta Chapter U.D.C. To Sponsor Program.

An Armistice Day program will be at the state capitol Wednesday afternoon, sponsored by the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C. Mrs. Warren D. White, president, will preside. Guests will be Major Trammell Scott, commander of the Atlanta American Legion; Major Harmsen, commander of John B. Gordon camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, and Garland S. Prior, commander of Confederate Veterans Camp 159, and the chaplain of Fort McPherson.

Crosses of service will be bestowed on a number of World War and Spanish War veterans, among whom will be General Tompkins King of Fort Benning and Jim Webb, superintendent of Fulton county schools.

Forrest Kibler, past recorder of crosses for Georgia division, U. D. C., will read the rules for delivery of crosses. Patriotic and civic organizations and interested friends are invited to be present at 2:30 o'clock.

Presented at Debut Breakfast

Miss Harriett Wynne, attractive debutante* daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy F. Wynne, was photographed at the breakfast party at which her parents were hosts at the Piedmont Driving Club Saturday, formally presenting their daughter to Atlanta society. Miss Wynne is one of the most popular members of the debutante coteries, is secretary of the Debutante Club, and is being feted at a number of parties during the fall season. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

Y. W. C. A. Health Department Invitation

Health education department of Y. W. C. A. extends invitation to girls interested in basketball to hear Miss Llewellyn Wilborn, physical director of Agnes Scott College, discuss basketball techniques at the Y Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock, November 10 and 12. Miss Wilborn is a recognized leader in the field of women's athletics. Miss Ligon, physical director of the Y, will be present and will aid Miss Wilborn in the discussion of rules and regulations, coaching and the spirit which should pervade the basketball court. Miss Ligon is an experienced coach and referee and will share some of the secrets.

Miss Nannie Burwell Crow, director of health education at the Y. W. C. A., will turn the meeting into an open discussion group, asking each guest to contribute ideas and suggestions for making the Blue Triangle league successful.

Compositions by classic and modern composers will be rendered by a group of Mr. Hodson's outstanding pupils.

Miss Mary Bryan will play a Bach invention; Schubert's "Im promptu;" Miss Elizabeth Sheldon Debussy's "Sunken Cathedral;" Mrs.

J. K. Douglas, Bach's "Prelude in A Minor;" and Tom Brumby the "Black Key Etude" by Chopin and Beethoven's "Ecossaise." Mrs. Edward Van Winkle Jr. will render Scarlatti's "Pastorale;" Mrs. Stanton "Harmonie Player." Mrs. Stanton Threlk, the Arensky "Etude;" and Miss McTowell two Chopin numbers.

Frank Mitchell's contribution will be the Chopin "Etude, F Minor;" Miss Mozzelle Horton playing Bach's "Concerto in A Minor," (Phillip arrangement), and Miss Irene Leftwich the second movement of the Greig "Concerto."

Personal Intelligence

Mrs. Caroline Dalton and Miss Sarah Kenny, of High Point, N. C., spent the weekend as the guests of Miss Martha Burnett, and were among the visitors attending the Tech-North Carolina football game Saturday.

Mrs. Harvey Jordan and Mrs. R. K. Rambo have returned from a trip to Valdosta, Dawson and Savannah.

Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, of Decatur, and Mrs. Harvey Jordan will leave Friday for Dallas, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Millis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Amos, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Dalton, Mrs. M. M. and Mrs. Carter Dalton, all of High Point, N. C., were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burnett at their home on Peachtree road.

Swift Boatwright and Miss Elizabeth Howard, of Wilmington, N. C., are the guests of Jack Peschau at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Peschau on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Mitchell King and Miss Willis have returned home from a stay of 10 days in New York. En route they visited Woodberry Forest school, Virginia, where Willis Jones Jr. and Charles Swift Jones are enrolled.

Mrs. George Harrington, of New York, formerly Miss Kathleen Brown, of Atlanta, will arrive next week to be the guest of Mrs. Shepard Bryan at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Sidney Stark Woods, Jr., of Arden, N. C., visiting Mrs. Woods' sisters, Misses Alice and Eva Fowler, at their home on Olympic way, Mrs. Woods was formerly Miss Thelma Fowler, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Stephen Havis have returned from their wedding trip to Europe. Mrs. Havis is a member of the Gold Cup tennis circle. Mrs. Havis was the guest of Mrs. Shepard Bryan at her home on Peachtree road.

Walter Forbes Jr. will give a stag dinner at the Atlanta Athletic Club, honoring Fritz Orr.

Miss Jaquelin Moore, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Moore, will be honored at the buffet luncheon at which her aunt, Mrs. Shepard Bryan, will entertain Saturday, December 12, at her home on Peachtree road. The guests will include 50 members of the younger contingent.

For Miss Moore.

Mrs. J. M. Adams will entertain the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Pullman Conductor at her home in College street, N. E., at 10:30 o'clock Saturday. Members are urged to attend, as the nomination of officers for the coming year will take place.

ANY FUR-TRIMMED COAT Standardized (Perfect Cleaning)

FUR GLAZED AND ELECTRIFIED

$1

Phone HE. 8900

STODDARD

Cleaners, Furriers, Dyers, Fur Storage

West Peachtree at Third

Your Opportunity to Own the Kind of FURNITURE YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED!!

THE GOLDEN WORD . . . Opportunity . . . which, when heeded, frequently changes the destiny of nations, individuals . . . and homes. STERCHI'S now presents the opportunity for you to make your home all you have wished that it might be. In a few days we will move to our new location, 116, 118, 120 Whitehall Street, S. W. This means that every item on the five floors of our store must be sold REGARDLESS OF COST. There are many beautiful, high-grade suites and individual pieces yet to be sold. Such low prices are bound to move them. Buy the furniture now you've always wanted. We will arrange terms to suit you.

Living Room Furniture, Tables, Lamps, Fibre Furniture, Clocks, Bedroom Suites, Blankets, Comforters, Rugs, Radios, Circulators, Hot Water Heaters, Hot Blast Heaters, Cooking Stoves, Dining Room Suites, Chairs, Secretaries, Kitchen Furniture, Linoleum and many other home necessities. Everything included.

Buy Now Everything You Need

CONVENIENT CREDIT

GLADLY GIVEN

Sterchi's
EXPOENTS OF GRAND RAPIDS FURNITURE
"Where Quality and Courtesy Predominate"

146-148-150-152 MITCHELL ST., S. W.

Come Down After Supper

OPEN EVERY NIGHT

UNTIL NINE O'CLOCK

UNCLE SAM ENDS ILLINOIS MILK WAR

Cause of Dispute Unsettled, But Violence Is Brought to a Halt.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 8.—(AP) Southern Illinois' two-month milk war, replete with sluggings, destruction of property and terrorism in general, appeared tonight to have been ended by intervention of the United States government.

The cause of the dispute—friction between an association of dairy farmers and a St. Louis milk company—remains unsettled, but county and state authorities said they believe the actual warfare has been effectively stopped.

The Federal Judge Louis Fitzhary was given considerable credit for halting the actual rioting. He issued a permanent injunction restraining the farmers and milk truck drivers from further violence.

Burgess Children's Stories

MOLLY TELLS HER STORY. BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who listens well to profit gain. Will never spend the time in vain.—Mrs. Peter Rabbit.

Molly, the pretty young Rabbit with soft eyes who was living in the Old Pasture, was in love and it wasn't with Peter. She had just said so. What is more, she had said it in a half-shy way that made little Mrs. Peter certain that she was telling the truth. At any lurking jealousy that little Mrs. Peter may have had left her completely.

"Tell me about it, my dear," said she. "How does it happen that you are living up here in the Old Pasture alone? Isn't he in love with you?"

"Oh, yes! Yes indeed!" He could be more in love with me," cried Molly.

"Then where is he?" demanded Mrs. Peter.

"He's taking a nap in another bramble-tangle. The poor dear was also tired," retorted Molly. "It is a good thing he didn't come before that other old fellow left," she added with a mischievous chuckle.

Mrs. Peter had her own opinion about that. It might have been a good thing, a very good thing for Peter to have found out how silly he had been. But she didn't say this. "How does it happen that you didn't come with you in the first place?" she asked instead.

"I ran away," confessed Molly. "We had a quarrel, a foolish quarrel, and I ran away."

"All quarellers are foolish," interrupted little Mrs. Peter.

"I thought he would follow me at once, and he didn't," continued Molly. "There a horrid dog chased me and I ran and ran until by the time I got rid of him I was completely lost. That is how he happened to come to the Old Pasture. It seemed such a nice place that I stayed. There really wasn't anything else to do. You see I was lost and didn't know the way back. Then, too, I had a feeling that sooner or later he would find me here. Sometimes I almost lost hope. If it hadn't been for that funny old fellow who has been coming to see me every night I guess I should have died of homesickness."

Mrs. Peter had it on the tip of her tongue to say that Peter wasn't a funny old fellow at all, but wisely kept still, and Molly continued.

"Last night he came just as I had known all along he would," she cried triumphantly.

"Of course he did," replied little Mrs. Peter knowingly.

"I never was so glad to see anybody in all my life," confessed Molly, "but I pretended I wasn't."

"Of course," said Mrs. Peter, nodding approvingly.

"But I guess he knew all the time that I was, continued Molly. "He scolded me."

"He would," said little Mrs. Peter.

"And then he announced that he never would allow me out of his sight again as long as he lived," added Molly.

"He would do that, too," said Mrs. Peter understandingly.

"But the poor dear had to have a nap this afternoon and here I am out of his sight already," chuckled Molly, her eyes shining with mischief.

"And what are you going to do when he wakes up and finds you are not with him?" asked Mrs. Peter.

"Let him hunt for me a little, just a little, just to pay him for that scolding last night," replied Molly.

"Then I suppose you will go back where you came from," said Mrs. Peter.

Molly shook her pretty head. "No," said she. "That's where you are wrong. We are going to live here in the Old Pasture. I've found the lowest place for rent there, there are no other Rabbits in the Old Pasture excepting Old Jed Thumper, and he doesn't count."

"Just you tell him that," said Mrs. Peter, and they both chuckled.

"I'll live near you, come and see us when we are settled," Molly promised.

"I'd love to," replied Mrs. Peter, and she really meant it.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

The next story: "Peter Has a Surprise."

Iris Garden Club Sponsors Showing Of 'Heaven Bound'

Presentation of "Heaven Bound," fand choral-drama of the local Big Bethel choir, will be sponsored by the Iris Garden Club with a public performance at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the Big Bethel church at Auburn avenue and Butler street.

Proceeds from the performance will be used by the club for improvement on the municipal grounds in Ansley Park where the Iris Garden members have been carrying on an extensive beautification program.

Officers of the club, which has 30 members, include Mrs. William Akers, president; Mrs. Lawrence Willett, vice president; Mrs. Alfredo Barill Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Dowdell Brown, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Earl Cone, treasurer.

The Iris Garden Club, Mrs. Herbert Reynolds and Mrs. Henry Troutman, co-chairmen of the "Heaven Bound" performance, in charge of arrangements and distribution of tickets. Tickets will be available through all members of the club, the main store and Tenth street branch of King Hardware Company, and the main store of George Muse Company.

Greatest Gift Ever Made to Atlanta is the opportunity now offered all her citizens to go to college at home. Ask Radio Division of Oglethorpe University for details.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

In reading your "Friendly Counsel" this morning, my heart went out to the "Conscientious Mother" who is called upon to sacrifice so greatly in the effort to force her children to prepare "homework" as required by their school teachers. Please don't think me sarcastic but I believe a terrible mistake has been made and that the mothers should rightfully be called the teachers, and the kind and patient ladies at school should be called the "hearers."

It is true that the teachers endure great hardships in their chosen profession because it is none too easy to control one family, and certainly it must be trying to have many families under one control. But haven't their hardships been overestimated? I have always believed that working women who have had college educations and work constantly from 8:30 to 5:30 or 6 p.m. are just as surely underpaid and just as greatly overworked as the poor school teachers. They are constantly annoyed by various interruptions during their working day and are forced to leave their work temporarily on account of interruptions—without extra pay. In addition to this they are given one day for Christmas holidays and one or two weeks during the summer time. However, they are happy in having the opportunity to work (or at least the greater number of them are) and don't send their work home at night to be checked over by the overtaxed mothers.

I have been told by numerous mothers that their children could be coached over house work, but could not get that same work in school. The attitude of the teachers today seems to be that unless the children are taught at home, they will just give them a mark below passing and let them go through the work again—which seems to me grossly unfair, because the average parent of today finds it difficult to finance a family of children if they only spend one year in each grade. In my own particular case, my household duties are so heavy that I can't find an extra minute for home teaching without neglecting preparation of food, laundering of school clothes, house cleaning and sewing. Consequently, I have taken into consideration of the fact of having by no means any studying, and the teachers think that they are not being co-operated with, thus the children who are really capable but need to be made to do home study, are given bad grades and from the first month of school, there is constant nagging in our home, but the deplorable situation is not remedied.

Would it be unfair to ask the teachers to do a little extra work by keeping those pupils who do not prepare home work (during study hours or at home after school) in the room for a few minutes each day? If the teacher might teach them how to study? Don't you think this would prevent much unhappiness in our homes and help to cut down the number of divorces? In addition it would save numbers of youngsters from failing to complete their educations because of becoming discouraged—even though they receive bad marks because of their own lack of effort. This is a childish trait and is overcome too late by those of us who have failed to get an education—and consequently are failures in life.

I expect this to bring severe criticism down on my head because mine are only the views of one person—but they're my views nevertheless.

STYLES BY ANNETTE

759

Lillian Mae Patterns

2230

HIPPIES ARE SMOOTHLY MOULDED.

A Paris fashion that has become a huge American success boasts a definite slimming quality about this one-piece model in new princess lines. It has a becoming V collarless neck and front and back panel effect from neck to hem, an advantage, if you're not so sylph-like as you would wish to be. Shirring at either side, gives a subtle indication of the normal waistline.

Model in a chiffon! You bet! After the sides and shoulders are joined, the circular sections are stitched to the dress. Bind neck and set sleeves into the armholes.

A patterned wool and silk crepe mixture in many-brown made the original.

It's stunning in black transparent twelve-wine-red crepe marinette and purple can-can faille crepe silk.

Style No. 759 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1 1/4 yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Our winter fashion magazine contains styles for children, the miss, a very attractive selection for adults, including slenderizing effects for stout, and a variety of Xmas suggestions.

Price of this book, 10 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Address orders to Annette Fashion Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

CANAL GROUP URGES WATERWAY ACTION

Woman's auxiliary to Grady Hospital held a called meeting at the nurses' home, Tuesday, November 10, at 10:30 o'clock at the chapter house, with Mrs. William J. Poole, chairman of the board, presiding.

The association unanimously chose Lake Houston, La., as next year's meeting place. Both Houston and Galveston issued bids for the 1932 convention.

The officers of the club, which has 30 members, include Mrs. William Akers, president; Mrs. Lawrence Willett, vice president; Mrs. Alfredo Barill Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Dowdell Brown, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Earl Cone, treasurer.

The officers of the club, which has 30 members, include Mrs. William Akers, president; Mrs. Lawrence Willett, vice president; Mrs. Alfredo Barill Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Dowdell Brown, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Earl Cone, treasurer.

Wife Preservers

Treasure Kyle S. Hamble, of Houston, was re-elected, along with executive committee for each state. It was voted to have the annual meeting in New Orleans, December 10-12. The names of President C. S. E. Holland, Vice Presidents Roy Miller and G. J. Palmer, of Texas, and Leon Locke, D. L. McPherson and Rene F. Clerc, of Louisiana, since they were elected for life at the convention in New Orleans last year.

In the closing session, members did not act on the suggestion of Congressman J. J. Mansfield, who is likely to be the next chairman of the house rivers and harbors committee, for the half-billion-dollar government bond issue to complete the national inland waterways system.

Rub egg stains on silver with wet salt.

HOOVER PREPARES FOR GRANDI VISIT

President Must Shape Program During Odd Moments of Busy Week.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A half a dozen or more major problems loom among them a troublous tax question—President Hoover today prepared for a crowded week ahead.

In it he must find time, too, for speech-making and to ready himself for new international conversations. Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy, sailed yesterday and is expected here a week from Monday.

Although an immediate decision is not likely there are indications that the president is devoting more and more time to deciding whether the administration will stand for or against a tax increase.

The fact now before him shows a widening choice of more than $681,000,000 between federal receipts and expenditures, with only a tiny bit of the fiscal year expired. Should the deficit increase at the same rate for the next eight months it would approach $2,000,000,000. Despite drastic subtractions in requests for next year's departmental spending money a budget of $3,632,000,000 is probable.

When West passed South's opening bid of one spade, North, who had an extremely strong hand, one that appeared plenty big enough to guarantee a win, passed. South then declared, mentally reviewed the possibilities. "If," he thought, "South's spade suit is solid save for the King which I hold, then a Spade should be made in spades."

North was a true conservative. He hated to Force with a four-card suit, and then he considered the possibilities of bid in notrump, but there was no possibility of making a Force in notrump.

Meanwhile East impatiently turned to North and said:

"Did you bid?"

North's trend of thought was interrupted.

"Seven spades," was the immediate answer, and East passed, but the contract would prove difficult through its length in spades. South and West also passed, and when West opened the diamond, South, taking stock of his resources, saw that he faced a well nigh impossible contract.

The diamond "pitch" was taken with the Ace-South playing on it his King in the order to retain two diamond entries in the North hand if they should later prove to be of value. The King of spades was then led and, when West's Knave fell, South decided to finesse.

The finesse was almost obligatory at this point, both because South held only eight spades and because West had no partner for the further reason that West, if he held Queen-Knave alone, would be quite likely to false-card by playing the Queen. The finesse held and South saw that to make the contract he must find the King of clubs and the King-Knave of hearts in the West hand, and that East must hold at least three cards in each of these suits. He now led his Singleton club

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A Slip and a Slam

Lapsus linguae, or in the vernacular "a slip of the tongue" is responsible for many odd happenings in the relations between human beings. Recently, I was told of a Grand Slam bid by reason of a slip of the tongue and the making of it required nothing except the finesse and the shortening of the long suit hand twice in order to establish the coup position.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

East and West not vulnerable.

and finessed the Queen, which, of course, held. A small club was led and trumped in the closed hand. South thus got rid of one of his two plus trumps. He must dispose of another before leading from the Dummy. He now led the heart four and finessed the Ten. This finesse also held. The Ace of clubs was then played and of this South discarded the Queen of diamonds. The last club was then led from the Dummy and coup position had now been established. South now led his last heart and took the Queen finesse. On the Ace of hearts he discarded another diamond in the closed hand. Now the Ace of diamonds was led and when the Queen of clubs was discarded, a sign of relief. The South position had seven were worthless for trick-taking purposes against South's Ace and Ten.

"What on earth made you bid seven, partner?" South asked as the score was jotted down.

He was considering the possibilities of the hand and East's question registered itself as he reviewed the chances of a spade Slam. It was a pure slip of the tongue," North replied.

"A fortunate slip," snorted West, as he jotted down the bonus for a vulnerable Grand Slam.

TODAY'S POINTER.

QUESTION: Why not Declarer not count ruff?

ANSWER: Because he counts his long trumps as full tricks and no card can take more than one trick.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

"Reformers" Scored In Mayor Key's Talk Before Bible Class

While not referring directly to the prohibition controversy in his lecture at his downtown interdenominational church, Sunday morning, Mayor James L. Key alluded to the activities of political and religious reformers who go outside the sphere of Christianity to engage in a form of "racketeering."

Approximately 1,200 persons attended the services at the Capitol theater.

Mayor Key, in his talk, emphasized the distinction between Christianity and paganism.

"Paganism," he said, "is the enthrallment of self or selfish interests. Christianity is the enthrallment of God and the absent of man."

His allusion to the activities of certain reform leaders who have criticized his attitude toward the eighth amendment was summed up in his observation that any man in church, religious or political life who "capitalizes on the ignorance of the community

THE GUMPS—ON THE WAR PATH

The Marriage Racket By VINA DELMAR

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

"I was thinking," she said, "that you've never really explored New York. We could have a week there for about $250 that you'd never forget."

"A week!" he said scornfully. "I'm having six weeks' vacation."

"Exactly. If you go to Europe you'll be on the go for six solid weeks. You'll be back to the office dead tired and broke. If you do things my way you'll have a marvelous time, plenty of rest and a nice nest egg."

He shook his head. "I'll have plenty of rest when I'm dead."

"I was thinking," Irma added artfully, "that if we weren't going to Europe you could get Mildred a coat like Jane Malcolm's. She'd love to have one."

"What kind of a coat?"

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"Or, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

The shadow of Europe hung over the Graham household through the winter. Mildred and Aunt Tessie accepted as a positive fact that Irma and Wallace would sail for Europe in August. Every time Mr. Dreyfus visited his factory Wallace questioned him about the hotels, restaurants, and railroads of Europe. Irma would hear that the Savoy hotel in London was beyond their means, that the Ritz in Paris was out of the question. Mr. Dreyfus, however, could recommend some good, cheap hotels. In fact, Mr. Dreyfus and Wallace had figured out that the Grahams could make the complete trip very nicely on $1,500. Mr. Dreyfus was arranging for their passage. He had a friend in a steamship office. By August the railroads were out of town and Mr. Dreyfus' friend could in all probability get them good accommodations quite reasonably.

It was not until Wallace got a letter from Mr. Dreyfus' friend that Irma realized that Europe was not remote. Wallace actually meant to go. She did not sleep that night. All through the long hours she tossed from side to side, picturing what would be in a far, strange country without the baby. A whole ocean between them. Any peril might descend upon him in his absence. Aunt Tessie and Mildred were useless to him. Rose would defend him as best she could from danger, but after all she was only a paid and perhaps transient housekeeper. Aunt Tessie could discharge her. Rose could leave. O, no, the whole idea was ridiculous. Irma couldn't go away from the baby.

There was a cold, gray light filtering into the room before Irma finally slept. She had decided to tell Wallace exactly how she felt. He would understand when she explained it carefully. She would urge him to make the trip alone. It would all work out satisfactorily. It had to. A man couldn't hate a woman for loving his child.

It was useless to speak to him in the morning. He hadn't time to listen to all she had to say. Besides, after a scant three hours' sleep she was too worn out to go at the first sign of opposition. She could tell him that evening. She knew that most wives could talk over unpleasant matters at the dinner table, where the warm fragrance of good soup and the perfectly broiled steak made even the most disagreeable less unpleasant. In the Graham household such a procedure was impossible. First, because Aunt Tessie and Mildred were present at every dinner, and secondly, because Rose's cooking was of the variety that infuriated rather than appealed.

This evening Mildred and Aunt

Tessie were going to the movies to see "The Test Commandments." They were very welcome there, unlooked-for stroke of luck. Irma said good-by so enthusiastically that all the Grahams stared curiously at her. She shut the door upon Mildred and Aunt Tessie and returned to the living room. Wallace had picked up his evening paper. She went to the window and played with the curtain cord. Would it be bad judgment to interfere with his reading of the decision that Judge Katz had handed down to the two Skinner boys?

But Wallace was not reading the paper. He was staring at his wife. He saw something in her eyes, in her mind. There was always something on Irma's mind. If it wasn't Mildred then it was Aunt Tessie and if it wasn't Aunt Tessie it was Wallace, always, and during and intermittent, it was the baby.

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"O, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

The shadow of Europe hung over the Graham household through the winter. Mildred and Aunt Tessie accepted as a positive fact that Irma and Wallace would sail for Europe in August. Every time Mr. Dreyfus visited his factory Wallace questioned him about the hotels, restaurants, and railroads of Europe. Irma would hear that the Savoy hotel in London was beyond their means, that the Ritz in Paris was out of the question. Mr. Dreyfus, however, could recommend some good, cheap hotels. In fact, Mr. Dreyfus and Wallace had figured out that the Grahams could make the complete trip very nicely on $1,500. Mr. Dreyfus was arranging for their passage. He had a friend in a steamship office. By August the railroads were out of town and Mr. Dreyfus' friend could in all probability get them good accommodations quite reasonably.

It was not until Wallace got a letter from Mr. Dreyfus' friend that Irma realized that Europe was not remote. Wallace actually meant to go. She did not sleep that night. All through the long hours she tossed from side to side, picturing what would be in a far, strange country without the baby. A whole ocean between them. Any peril might descend upon him in his absence. Aunt Tessie and Mildred were useless to him. Rose would defend him as best she could from danger, but after all she was only a paid and perhaps transient housekeeper. Aunt Tessie could discharge her. Rose could leave. O, no, the whole idea was ridiculous. Irma couldn't go away from the baby.

There was a cold, gray light filtering into the room before Irma finally slept. She had decided to tell Wallace exactly how she felt. He would understand when she explained it carefully. She would urge him to make the trip alone. It would all work out satisfactorily. It had to. A man couldn't hate a woman for loving his child.

It was useless to speak to him in the morning. He hadn't time to listen to all she had to say. Besides, after a scant three hours' sleep she was too worn out to go at the first sign of opposition. She could tell him that evening. She knew that most wives could talk over unpleasant matters at the dinner table, where the warm fragrance of good soup and the perfectly broiled steak made even the most disagreeable less unpleasant. In the Graham household such a procedure was impossible. First, because Aunt Tessie and Mildred were present at every dinner, and secondly, because Rose's cooking was of the variety that infuriated rather than appealed.

This evening Mildred and Aunt

Tessie were going to the movies to see "The Test Commandments." They were very welcome there, unlooked-for stroke of luck. Irma said good-by so enthusiastically that all the Grahams stared curiously at her. She shut the door upon Mildred and Aunt Tessie and returned to the living room. Wallace had picked up his evening paper. She went to the window and played with the curtain cord. Would it be bad judgment to interfere with his reading of the decision that Judge Katz had handed down to the two Skinner boys?

But Wallace was not reading the paper. He was staring at his wife. He saw something in her eyes, in her mind. There was always something on Irma's mind. If it wasn't Mildred then it was Aunt Tessie and if it wasn't Aunt Tessie it was Wallace, always, and during and intermittent, it was the baby.

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"O, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

The shadow of Europe hung over the Graham household through the winter. Mildred and Aunt Tessie accepted as a positive fact that Irma and Wallace would sail for Europe in August. Every time Mr. Dreyfus visited his factory Wallace questioned him about the hotels, restaurants, and railroads of Europe. Irma would hear that the Savoy hotel in London was beyond their means, that the Ritz in Paris was out of the question. Mr. Dreyfus, however, could recommend some good, cheap hotels. In fact, Mr. Dreyfus and Wallace had figured out that the Grahams could make the complete trip very nicely on $1,500. Mr. Dreyfus was arranging for their passage. He had a friend in a steamship office. By August the railroads were out of town and Mr. Dreyfus' friend could in all probability get them good accommodations quite reasonably.

It was not until Wallace got a letter from Mr. Dreyfus' friend that Irma realized that Europe was not remote. Wallace actually meant to go. She did not sleep that night. All through the long hours she tossed from side to side, picturing what would be in a far, strange country without the baby. A whole ocean between them. Any peril might descend upon him in his absence. Aunt Tessie and Mildred were useless to him. Rose would defend him as best she could from danger, but after all she was only a paid and perhaps transient housekeeper. Aunt Tessie could discharge her. Rose could leave. O, no, the whole idea was ridiculous. Irma couldn't go away from the baby.

There was a cold, gray light filtering into the room before Irma finally slept. She had decided to tell Wallace exactly how she felt. He would understand when she explained it carefully. She would urge him to make the trip alone. It would all work out satisfactorily. It had to. A man couldn't hate a woman for loving his child.

It was useless to speak to him in the morning. He hadn't time to listen to all she had to say. Besides, after a scant three hours' sleep she was too worn out to go at the first sign of opposition. She could tell him that evening. She knew that most wives could talk over unpleasant matters at the dinner table, where the warm fragrance of good soup and the perfectly broiled steak made even the most disagreeable less unpleasant. In the Graham household such a procedure was impossible. First, because Aunt Tessie and Mildred were present at every dinner, and secondly, because Rose's cooking was of the variety that infuriated rather than appealed.

This evening Mildred and Aunt

Tessie were going to the movies to see "The Test Commandments." They were very welcome there, unlooked-for stroke of luck. Irma said good-by so enthusiastically that all the Grahams stared curiously at her. She shut the door upon Mildred and Aunt Tessie and returned to the living room. Wallace had picked up his evening paper. She went to the window and played with the curtain cord. Would it be bad judgment to interfere with his reading of the decision that Judge Katz had handed down to the two Skinner boys?

But Wallace was not reading the paper. He was staring at his wife. He saw something in her eyes, in her mind. There was always something on Irma's mind. If it wasn't Mildred then it was Aunt Tessie and if it wasn't Aunt Tessie it was Wallace, always, and during and intermittent, it was the baby.

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"O, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

The shadow of Europe hung over the Graham household through the winter. Mildred and Aunt Tessie accepted as a positive fact that Irma and Wallace would sail for Europe in August. Every time Mr. Dreyfus visited his factory Wallace questioned him about the hotels, restaurants, and railroads of Europe. Irma would hear that the Savoy hotel in London was beyond their means, that the Ritz in Paris was out of the question. Mr. Dreyfus, however, could recommend some good, cheap hotels. In fact, Mr. Dreyfus and Wallace had figured out that the Grahams could make the complete trip very nicely on $1,500. Mr. Dreyfus was arranging for their passage. He had a friend in a steamship office. By August the railroads were out of town and Mr. Dreyfus' friend could in all probability get them good accommodations quite reasonably.

It was not until Wallace got a letter from Mr. Dreyfus' friend that Irma realized that Europe was not remote. Wallace actually meant to go. She did not sleep that night. All through the long hours she tossed from side to side, picturing what would be in a far, strange country without the baby. A whole ocean between them. Any peril might descend upon him in his absence. Aunt Tessie and Mildred were useless to him. Rose would defend him as best she could from danger, but after all she was only a paid and perhaps transient housekeeper. Aunt Tessie could discharge her. Rose could leave. O, no, the whole idea was ridiculous. Irma couldn't go away from the baby.

There was a cold, gray light filtering into the room before Irma finally slept. She had decided to tell Wallace exactly how she felt. He would understand when she explained it carefully. She would urge him to make the trip alone. It would all work out satisfactorily. It had to. A man couldn't hate a woman for loving his child.

It was useless to speak to him in the morning. He hadn't time to listen to all she had to say. Besides, after a scant three hours' sleep she was too worn out to go at the first sign of opposition. She could tell him that evening. She knew that most wives could talk over unpleasant matters at the dinner table, where the warm fragrance of good soup and the perfectly broiled steak made even the most disagreeable less unpleasant. In the Graham household such a procedure was impossible. First, because Aunt Tessie and Mildred were present at every dinner, and secondly, because Rose's cooking was of the variety that infuriated rather than appealed.

This evening Mildred and Aunt

Tessie were going to the movies to see "The Test Commandments." They were very welcome there, unlooked-for stroke of luck. Irma said good-by so enthusiastically that all the Grahams stared curiously at her. She shut the door upon Mildred and Aunt Tessie and returned to the living room. Wallace had picked up his evening paper. She went to the window and played with the curtain cord. Would it be bad judgment to interfere with his reading of the decision that Judge Katz had handed down to the two Skinner boys?

But Wallace was not reading the paper. He was staring at his wife. He saw something in her eyes, in her mind. There was always something on Irma's mind. If it wasn't Mildred then it was Aunt Tessie and if it wasn't Aunt Tessie it was Wallace, always, and during and intermittent, it was the baby.

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"O, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

The shadow of Europe hung over the Graham household through the winter. Mildred and Aunt Tessie accepted as a positive fact that Irma and Wallace would sail for Europe in August. Every time Mr. Dreyfus visited his factory Wallace questioned him about the hotels, restaurants, and railroads of Europe. Irma would hear that the Savoy hotel in London was beyond their means, that the Ritz in Paris was out of the question. Mr. Dreyfus, however, could recommend some good, cheap hotels. In fact, Mr. Dreyfus and Wallace had figured out that the Grahams could make the complete trip very nicely on $1,500. Mr. Dreyfus was arranging for their passage. He had a friend in a steamship office. By August the railroads were out of town and Mr. Dreyfus' friend could in all probability get them good accommodations quite reasonably.

It was not until Wallace got a letter from Mr. Dreyfus' friend that Irma realized that Europe was not remote. Wallace actually meant to go. She did not sleep that night. All through the long hours she tossed from side to side, picturing what would be in a far, strange country without the baby. A whole ocean between them. Any peril might descend upon him in his absence. Aunt Tessie and Mildred were useless to him. Rose would defend him as best she could from danger, but after all she was only a paid and perhaps transient housekeeper. Aunt Tessie could discharge her. Rose could leave. O, no, the whole idea was ridiculous. Irma couldn't go away from the baby.

There was a cold, gray light filtering into the room before Irma finally slept. She had decided to tell Wallace exactly how she felt. He would understand when she explained it carefully. She would urge him to make the trip alone. It would all work out satisfactorily. It had to. A man couldn't hate a woman for loving his child.

It was useless to speak to him in the morning. He hadn't time to listen to all she had to say. Besides, after a scant three hours' sleep she was too worn out to go at the first sign of opposition. She could tell him that evening. She knew that most wives could talk over unpleasant matters at the dinner table, where the warm fragrance of good soup and the perfectly broiled steak made even the most disagreeable less unpleasant. In the Graham household such a procedure was impossible. First, because Aunt Tessie and Mildred were present at every dinner, and secondly, because Rose's cooking was of the variety that infuriated rather than appealed.

This evening Mildred and Aunt

Tessie were going to the movies to see "The Test Commandments." They were very welcome there, unlooked-for stroke of luck. Irma said good-by so enthusiastically that all the Grahams stared curiously at her. She shut the door upon Mildred and Aunt Tessie and returned to the living room. Wallace had picked up his evening paper. She went to the window and played with the curtain cord. Would it be bad judgment to interfere with his reading of the decision that Judge Katz had handed down to the two Skinner boys?

But Wallace was not reading the paper. He was staring at his wife. He saw something in her eyes, in her mind. There was always something on Irma's mind. If it wasn't Mildred then it was Aunt Tessie and if it wasn't Aunt Tessie it was Wallace, always, and during and intermittent, it was the baby.

"Well, they're not very high. We could manage."

"O, but there's raccoon and raccoon. Mildred wouldn't want a cheap one."

"Wouldn't she? Then she's out of luck. I don't believe in dressing a girl beyond her father's means. I think that's why the Malcolms have always liked Mildred. Because she's not the type to try and ape Jane. She wears clothes that are compatible with my salary."

"Sometimes," breathed Irma, but Wallace didn't hear her, for the Gardners' car had arrived and he was busily slipping into his coat and trying to look hospitable and dignified.

The shadow of Europe hung over the Graham household through the winter. Mildred and Aunt Tessie accepted as a positive fact that Irma and Wallace would sail for Europe in August. Every time Mr. Dreyfus visited his factory Wallace questioned him about the hotels, restaurants, and railroads of Europe. Irma would hear that the Savoy hotel in London was beyond their means, that the Ritz in Paris was out of the question. Mr. Dreyfus, however, could recommend some good, cheap hotels. In fact, Mr. Dreyfus and Wallace had figured out that the Grahams could make the complete trip very nicely on $1,500. Mr. Dreyfus was arranging for their passage. He had a friend in a steamship office. By August the railroads were out of town and Mr. Dreyfus' friend could in all probability get them good accommodations quite reasonably.

It was not until Wallace got a letter from Mr. Dreyfus' friend that Irma realized that Europe was not remote. Wallace actually meant to go. She did not sleep that night. All through the long hours she tossed from side to side, picturing what would be in a far, strange country without the baby. A whole ocean between them. Any peril might descend upon him in his absence. Aunt Tessie and Mildred were useless to him. Rose would defend him as best she could from danger, but after all she was only a paid and perhaps transient housekeeper. Aunt Tessie could discharge her. Rose could leave. O, no, the whole idea was ridiculous. Irma couldn't go away from the baby.

There was a cold, gray light filtering into the room before Irma finally slept. She had decided to tell Wallace exactly how she felt. He would understand when she explained it carefully. She would urge him to make the trip alone. It would all work out satisfactorily. It had to. A man couldn't hate a woman for loving his child.

It was useless to speak to him in the morning. He hadn't time to listen to all she had to say. Besides, after a scant three hours' sleep she was too worn out to go at the first sign of opposition. She could tell him that evening. She knew that most wives could talk over unpleasant matters at the dinner table, where the warm fragrance of good soup and the perfectly broiled steak made even the most disagreeable less unpleasant. In the Graham household such a procedure was impossible. First, because Aunt Tessie and Mildred were present at every dinner, and secondly, because Rose's cooking was of the variety that infuriated rather than appealed.

This evening Mildred and Aunt

Tessie were going to the movies to see "The Test Commandments." They were very welcome there, unlooked-for stroke of luck. Irma said good-by so enthusiastically that all the Grahams stared curiously at her. She shut the door upon Mildred and Aunt Tessie and returned to the living room. Wallace had picked up his evening paper. She went to the window and played with the curtain cord. Would it be bad judgment to interfere with his

A population of 500,000 by 1937 is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for ATLANTA'S CENTENNIAL

COMPANY OFFERS $100 FOR NAME OF COFFEE

The Ruff Coffee Company, of 304 Marietta street, announces an offer of $100 in gold to the person that will send them the most suitable name for a new blend of coffee they are putting out at present under the label name of "R-Name-It."

"There is nothing unusual about the conditions of furnishing the name for this particular new blend of coffee, just get a can of it at any independent retail grocery and find the coupon which you can fill out with your choice name and your own personal address. The person that furnishes the name the Ruff Coffee Company thinks most suitable and catchy for this especially high-grade coffee they want to quickly introduce your name will be published and $100 sent you."

The Ruff Coffee Company is having some good success with their Ruff-Ryder-Kennedy and Happy Cup brands. Especially is this so with their Ruff-Ryder brand, of which they are selling many thousands of pounds every week.

Their Happy Cup Coffee is a premium coffee, with which they give away some nice dishes and at present

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

Atlanta's merchants and manufacturers can supply you.
A. A. ATLANTA ALWAYS AHEAD

BOND LIST MAKES STEADY ADVANCE

General Business Sentiment Grows Decidedly Optimistic

BY VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(P)—The bond market advanced almost steadily last week and reached the highest level in four weeks.

Some selling tendencies appeared at times, but they disappeared by the end of each day, permitting the market to close higher from day to day. This board advance was accomplished with a moderate volume.

The commonest explanation of the upturn was that confidence in the market was increasing and that consequently the market's rally induced by the desire of banks to retain liquid in order to meet withdrawals, had been reduced or ended.

A reinvestment demand arising from the distribution of November 1 dividend and interest disbursements attributed a favorable influence also.

Investors' makers were more inclined to buy than to sell.

Both of these games are made by the Paragon Box Company, of 811-2 Marietta street, and are manufactured and sold under the name of Game-O-Golf, Inc., with Josiah Anderson Carter, an old newspaperman, president; Norman Wrigley, secretary, and Howard H. McCall, treasurer.

NEW INDOOR GAMES PROVE POPULAR HERE

Two new indoor games have just recently been brought out here that promise to take well over the country.

One is called Game-O-Golf and is played on a beautifully illustrated board representing an aerial view of a nine-hole golf course. The game has the nearest thrill to the outside game. Par for the course is 42, shortest hole represents 190 yards and is par 3, while the longest is a 490-yard hole and par 6. The game has all the hazards of the outside game such as in a sandtrap, sliced ball, ball hit a rock or a tree, ball goes into the lake or ball goes into the woods or rough, etc.

New York, Nov. 8.—(P)—Business sentiment, while still inclined to linger on the cautionary sidelines, assumed a conspicuously more cheerful aspect during the past week.

The advance, in commodity prices, especially the mercantile movement in wheat gave renewed hope that trade generally would soon make real progress in climbing out of the ditch of depression.

The effect of increased purchasing power among the vast agricultural communities of the country was widely expected to be reflected in many lines. This, of course, it was pointed out, depends to a considerable extent on the advancing commodity prices being maintained.

Many optimistic leaders were convinced that the wheat bulls are playing the market on facts; that there will be a real world wheat shortage during the coming year and that the American wheat farmer will have actual money to buy the necessities and luxuries he has been forced to forego.

There were other observers, however, who were inclined to view somewhat skeptically the upturn in wheat, etc.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

While reports during the week showed a considerable increase in commercial failures, at the same time freight car loadings exhibited fair seasonal increase; electric power output was up a little, though a slight dip was experienced, with indications of enlarged operations for the month; silk and cotton consumption displayed noticeable seasonal advances and petroleum production was under that of a year ago with prices tending to firm.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to 1931.

Wholesale and retail trade picked up a little, too, due probably to cooler weather in most of the cities of the country stimulating the buying of winter supplies. Clothing is mentioned most prominently as the outstanding seller of the past seven days. Most of the shopping districts, however, estimate the volume of business below that of last year. In New York city the sale of women's shoes was the only line reported as equal to

THE CONSTITUTION

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Information

CLOSING HOURS

Want Ads are accepted up to 9 p.m. for publication the next day. The closing hour for the morning edition is 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

CLASSIFIED RATES

Daily and Sunday rates per line for consecutive insertions:

Two times 20 cents

Three times 35 cents

Seven times 45 cents

Ads ordered for three or seven days and stopped before expiration will only be charged for the number of times the ad appeared, plus adjustment made at the rate earned.

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Constitution will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

All want ads are restricted to their proper classification. The Constitution reserves the right to refuse or return any advertisement.

Ads ordered by telephone are accepted from persons listed in the telephone or city directory on memorandum charge only. In return for this courtesy, the advertiser is expected to remit promptly.

To Phone An Ad

Call WALNUT 6565

Ask for an Ad-Taker

RAILROAD SCHEDULES

Schedules Published in Information, (Central Standard Time).

Arrives—A. B. & C. L. R. —Leaves 7:10 p.m.—Cordelle-Waycross ... 7:30 a.m.

Arrives—T. & W. T. —Leaves 5:00 a.m.—New Orleans-Montgomery ... 6:10 a.m.

Arrives—T. & W. T. —Leaves 7:05 a.m.—New Orleans-Montgomery ... 4:30 p.m.

Arrives—T. & W. T. —Leaves 7:05 a.m.—New Orleans-Montgomery ... 6:00 p.m.

Arrives—T. & W. T. —Leaves 5:30 a.m.—Pan-Al-tee ... 3:30 p.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Mac-Sav-Al-Delton ... 11:30 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Mac-Jax-Mi-Tampa ... 3:25 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

Arrives—G. O. G. E. —Leaves 3:55 a.m.—Columbus ... 8:00 a.m.

